A RESOLUTION

Urging the federal government to exempt the state from the Clean Power Plan and empower the state to protect the state's access to affordable and reliable electrical generation.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

WHEREAS the overreach by the United States Environmental Protection Agency continues to erode state rights; and

WHEREAS the United States Environment Protection Agency has proposed rules establishing carbon emissions goals for existing electrical power generators; and

WHEREAS especially egregious is the Clean Power Plan for existing power plants, which places unprecedented regulations on the nation's energy producers and threatens access to affordable and reliable energy solutions for this and other states; and

WHEREAS the state has joined with other states in asserting that the Clean Power Plan is unlawful and, in comprehensive comments, has asked to be exempt; and

WHEREAS states must outline measures for meeting Clean Power Plan goals in state plans that will be federally enforceable by the Environmental Protection Agency and through citizen suits; and

WHEREAS the application of the goals of the Clean Power Plan to the state is fundamentally flawed because the goals rely on interconnection with the North American grid, to which the state is not connected; and

WHEREAS the Regulatory Commission of Alaska should be empowered to make decisions with methodology based on the lowest production costs for electrical generation; and

WHEREAS electric rate payers in the state are harmed by rate increases brought on by universal federal regulations that are inappropriate for the state; and

WHEREAS the state would benefit from minimal electrical rate increases; and

WHEREAS utilities, communities, residents, and commercial entities should be protected from any attempts to close a coal-fired power plant in the state; and

WHEREAS the state needs coal-fired power plants to ensure the reliability of the electrical energy grid; and

WHEREAS the loss of other traditional electrical generation methods may cause natural gas plants to be overused or used in ways that exceed their engineered design; and

WHEREAS renewable energy and energy efficiency measures have been implemented at significant cost to the state, but will not be credited to the carbon goal of the state; and

WHEREAS the Clean Power Plan will require the premature retirement of the Healy Unit 1 coal plant, underutilization or premature retirement of the Healy Unit 2 coal plant, and significant new investment in renewable energy and energy efficiency; and

WHEREAS fostering the development and preservation of reliable, affordable, and environmentally safe electricity for communities, homes, and businesses in the state is an essential state activity; and

WHEREAS the state is better able to deal with the issues described in this resolution than the federal government;

BE IT RESOLVED that the Alaska State Legislature urges the federal government to exempt the state from the Clean Power Plan and empower the state government, which is accountable to the people of the state, to regulate its own energy production and use in order to protect access to affordable and reliable electrical generation for residents of the state.
