To whom it may concern,

My name is Paige Hill and when I was a kindergartner, my grandma Shirley came to Alaska to spend Easter with my family. Since I was a kindergartner she came and spent the day with my class at Polaris K-12 School.

You see, my grandma Shirley teaches second grade in North Carolina and she wanted to teach us about things from where she came from. One of the first things she taught us about was her state's symbols. We learned that their state dog is a plott hound. She wanted to know what Alaska's state dog was and we all looked at each other. Nobody knew for sure what it was! Later, we found out we didn't even have a state dog and this is where it all began.

My teacher, Terry Powers, decided to help us do some investigating. We wanted to figure out how our state could get a state dog. We found out that two other symbols, the willow ptarmigan in 1955 and the four-spotted dragon fly in 1995 both became state symbols because of the efforts of school children just like us.

After lots of discussion, we narrowed our choice down to two types of dogs, the husky and the Alaskan malamute. We finally voted for the Alaskan Malamute. One of the reasons we picked the Alaskan malamute is because it's big like Alaska and because it's a hard working dog like the people of Alaska.

The next school year our class asked two older classes, Jamie Rodriguez's 4/5 and Carol Bartholomew's 2/3, to join us and help research more about the Alaska malamute's history to show that it's the very best choice to be Alaska's official state dog.

Sincerely,
Paige Hill, 2nd grader

Dear Representative Gardner,

My name is Florence Boots and I am in the fifth grade in Jamie's class at Polaris K-12 School. My class along with two others is working together to make the Alaskan Malamute the Alaska state dog.

The Alaskan Malamute has a deep connection with Alaskan history. Their origins reach back to the early days of Alaska with the Mahlemut people. The Mahlemut People, now known as the Inuits, lived in Northwestern Alaska. They lived and worked closely with their dogs, using them to haul loads and even to help watch children. Also, the Alaskan Malamutes were a very popular breed during the Klondike Gold Rush when they were used to help haul supplies. The Alaskan Malamute dogs were so valued back then that one person would pay $500 dollars for one good dog and $1500 for a small team! The Alaskan Malamute also assisted with Admiral Richard Byrd's expedition to the South Pole. The Alaskan Malamute also proved useful in World War II, as a helping and hauling dog. So the Alaskan Malamute would be a very good choice as the official Alaska state dog.

Please add your voice to ours by writing a letter to support making the Alaskan Malamute our official state dog. We will add it to our legislative packet along with our bill and informational presentation. We would greatly value the opportunity to add your voice to our growing number of supporters. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Florence S. Boots

Dear Mr. Terry:

Reference is made to your letter of April 30, 2008, regarding a bill to make the Alaskan Malamute the official state dog.

Your letter arrived after our May meeting so it had to wait for the Board Meeting for action. The Board of the Alaska Kennel Club has voted to support your effort to make the Alaskan Malamute the official state dog of Alaska. Please feel free to include this letter in your legislative packet.

Good luck in your efforts.

To: Christopher Gray;

This is a letter to support your class campaign to make the Alaskan Malamute the State Dog of Alaska. The Alaskan Malamute has played an important role in the history of our state and nation. It is an icon of Alaska in the legends and visual imagery of our state. In addition, it continues to be a highly valued companion and working dog in our modern society. Granting this honor to the breed would be an appropriate recognition of one of Alaska's native treasures.

Sincerely;

Dear Jessica:

Thank you for contacting the American Kennel Club. The Alaskan Malamute is a wonderful breed and we support your efforts to make it the state dog of Alaska.

There are currently nine state dogs in the United States. We have included a magazine article that appeared in the AKC Gazette in July 2006 that explains how these dogs became state symbols. In Wisconsin, a group of students wanted to make the American Water Spaniel their state dog. They contacted their representative and a bill was created and eventually passed!

Your class should contact your local state representative with your proposal. They will have to write and introduce legislation. For information on how a bill goes through the legislative process, visit http://www.lrc.ky.gov/kidspages/how_a_bill_becomes_law.htm

This is an example from the state of Kentucky. It is in coloring book format and titled "How the Beagle Could Become Kentucky's State Dog."

If you need more information about the Alaskan Malamute, you can visit our web site at http://www.akc.org/breeds/alaskan_malamute/

You can also contact local dog clubs in your area (<http://www.akc.org/clubs/search/index.cfm>) or the Alaskan Malamute Club of America for more information and for support of your proposal:

Dear Carol's Class:

It has been brought to my attention by a well-written letter from Khaner Smith that your classroom is trying to pass a law to make the Alaska Malamute our official state dog. I understand how much research you have been doing and the reasons you are trying to make a difference on a state-wide issue such as an official state dog. Some of your research has me intrigued such as:

They were bred in Alaska.
They sniffed bombs during WWII.
They carried airplane parts.

Although Central Middle School of Science's mascot is the Husky, I can support your efforts in making the official state dog the Malamute. Please let me know how I can be of assistance to your classroom and thank you for inviting my support! Your classroom is filled with a beautiful group of motivated, intelligent, civic-minded students who are responsible for their learning - how could I not support your cause?

Sincerely,

Dear Katie:

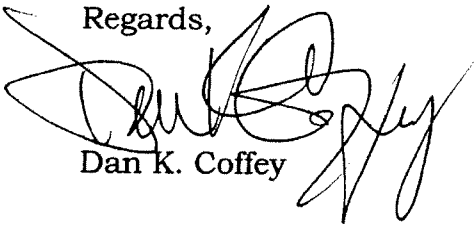

I received your letter concerning your efforts to have the Alaska Malamute named the official state dog.

From reading your letter it is clear that you have done your homework. You have learned a lot about Malamutes and how they have served the First People and those who came after them. Well done! I applaud your efforts to have this fine animal and friend to man named the state dog.

If this letter can help you achieve your goal, then please feel free to send copies to the legislature and the governor.

Good luck on your project.

I'd Like To Thank you For The Letter
I recieved, From your group, and my granddaughter, Desiree, regarding Alaska's official state dog. IT was very ThoughtFUL and imFormitive. I Learned many Things From your Letter, but Two
That stand out are, That we didn't have a official state dog, and The Long and important history The malamute has had in Alaska. I agree with you, That
The malamute would be The best pick
For our state dog, and support your motion. I also Think it's really nice
That your group is doing Things To help
The community. Keep up The good work.

Dear Miss Husa:

We are pleased to send this letter of support for your class's proposal to make the Alaska Malamute the official dog of the State of Alaska. We were very interested to learn about all the ways that these dogs have helped throughout the history of our great state. They are a unique breed and we agree that they should be recognized for their contributions. Our official education dogs Lucy and Maverick are pleased to add their support!

We wish you well in your efforts!

Dear Taylor,

Until I received your letter I did not know the origin of the Alaskan Malamute and its rich historical connection to the Inuit people and to Alaska. I also did not know that it is one of the 12 ancient breeds. Thank you for providing such a wealth of information about the Alaskan Malamute – including that this breed of dog was vital to miners during the Gold Rush; that Alaskan Malamutes helped during Admiral Byrd's expedition to the South Pole; and that Alaskan Malamutes were part of the dog team that made the historical Serum Run to Nome. The Alaskan Malamute truly is a wonderful dog that is hard working and loyal. I agree that these are the kind of attributes that Alaskans would consider important in naming an Alaska state dog.

I wish you and your class much success in your efforts to have the Alaska Malamute named Alaska state dog.

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter in support of the proposal to make the Alaskan Malamute the official State dog of Alaska. I have been impressed with the job that the students at Polaris k-12 in Anchorage have done in making the case for the Malamute. I for one was educated by the class and felt they had done an exceptional job researching the topic. Given the importance of dogs in the history and culture of Alaska, I can think of no better way to honor this contribution than to select a true working dog, the Alaskan Malamute, as the official State dog

Dear Gwyneth,

Thank you for your letter asking for support to make the Malamute the Alaska State Dog. I learned several things about Malamutes that I did not know before.

I think your project to have the Malamute named as the state dog is a wonderful idea, and I fully support this effort. I encourage the Alaska Legislature to learn more about the Alaska Malamute and make it our official state dog.

I wish you success with your project,

Dear Ms. Bartholomew:

Thank you for your letter regarding the Malamutes and how helpful they have been to people in the Arctic region. Your letter was very insightful and had a lot of information that I was unaware of pertaining to this breed of dog. I agree this is one of the oldest and toughest dogs to come out of this region, probably even one of the first dogs to be domesticated here in Alaska being able to withstand the Northern Arctic's harsh climate.

Passage of a bill would be special recognition for an animal that has done so much for the people living in Alaska and other Arctic regions. I would love to support you and your school on this bill, and I believe the community would agree the Malamute should be our state dog. Having this breed originate from our own state should be more than a good enough reason to consider it as our state dog.

Good Luck with your school project to get this bill passed.

Sincerely,

Dear Kaya,

Thank you very much for your delightful letter about making the Alaska Malamute the official State dog for Alaska. I am very impressed with the research you and your class did to learn more about the Malamute and its historical contribution to Alaska and its people.

I am very supportive of your efforts to work toward achieving this very important goal and you have very clearly justified why the Alaska Malamute is an excellent choice for our State. This process will be an excellent learning opportunity for you, and I am most appreciative of your class for selecting this very worthwhile project.

Please feel free to call on me for any further assistance I may provide on behalf of your mission. The Alaska Malamute has proven its value to the State and, now, should be honored for its contributions.

Best wishes,

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to support officially declaring the Alaska Malamute as the State Dog.

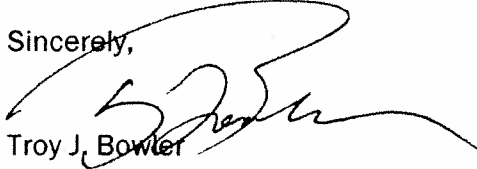

As the result of the wonderful work of a second grade class at Polaris K-12 in Anchorage I was made aware of the tremendous role the Alaska Malamute has played in Alaska history.

At the top of the list:

- They helped gold miners dig for gold.
- They are strong workers and are used to pull heavy burdens.
- Their role in the Iditarod is obvious.

Please accept these brief words as my support. Feel free to contact me with any questions.

Dear Robby,

I received your letter requesting support for the Alaska Malamute to be the official dog for the state of Alaska. You made a very strong case for the Alaska Malamute. You presented many facts to support your position. I did not know Alaska Malamutes had such important jobs in World War II. From the reasons you presented, I understand why you think the Alaska Malamute should be the state dog.

Please know you have my support. Good luck!

Dear Members of the Alaska State Legislature:

I am writing in support of making the Alaska malamute the official state dog of Alaska. The arguments supporting this proposal, as articulated by the students of Polaris, have convinced me that the Alaska malamute is an appropriate symbol for our state. The breed represents the best of our unique state, as a strong, beautiful animal that has contributed greatly to the survival of peoples in this tough region for thousands of years.

I also think it is exciting to see young people get engaged in thinking about, and making public policy and history.

I urge you to support this effort.

Thank you.
