Dear Karen,

After perusing and studying HB-88 I find myself in agreement and will support the passage of this bill. I forwarded it to most of my friends here in Alaska and find most of them in agreement with me. I, for one, am sick and tired of a bunch of foreigners who have no concept of what our forefathers had in mind when the Constitution of the United States was written coming to the United States and trying to change it to agree with the, mostly biased, views they grew up with.

I'm old enough I had to memorize and understand the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, The Gettysburg Address and several other documents our country was established on, mostly in elementary school. We also had to pass achievement tests every year to advance from one grade to the next. Why can't the schools of this nation teach the quality of education I had anymore? It seems to me the main reason we are falling behind the rest of the world in intelligence is primarily because the teachers don't, won't or can't teach students is because the system is afraid of correcting the situation because they might drop someone out and we really don't want that do we?

As a person with 3 Bachelor degrees including one in Secondary Education I have often stated, in all honesty, I would require any paper written in any class I taught would include a full verifiable bibliography and would be hand written in a completely legible hand free of any spelling errors. I would then verify each bibliography before I started grading the paper itself..

Sincerely,

Dear Walt,

I have attached the latest version of HB 88, which is a committee substitute from House State Affairs Committee. The next hearing is this Wednesday in House Judiciary Committee. We appreciate your interest in this bill, and hope you will let us know your thoughts on the issue. Thanks, Walt.

What is the status of HB-88 (Foreign Law Bill), and where can I find a copy of it?
