"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Jamin Bursell Tamie Bursell 18695 Pt Stephens Rd

Junear AK 9980 (

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

JABON CLIFTON

Ø2/28/14

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Jeff Mandragon

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Sandy Sheridan 1746 2nd St. Apt.B Douglas, Ak 99824 Andy Sherid

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

John Durs

John Meshal

105 Tray Avs

June AL 28.801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Ann Gi Gord

4350 Glacier Hay. Duneau, AK 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

NORMA FLEER M Steek 3151 Proneer Are Juneau, AK 29801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

2737 JOHN STREET

JUNEAU, AK 99801 (907)723-2,669

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Herri Campbell
Terri Campbell
437 W. 1125+
Thread AC 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Coagle Byrne Hayli Byrne 6745 Magver. te Juneau AK 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

JeresaB Cramer
Teresa B. Cramer
801 Dixon St.
Juneau, Ak 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

20. Box 20021, JUNEAU 9.

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

JUNEAU, AK.

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Kari & Monagle Kari Menagle Po Box 32203 Juneau, 1x 99803

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Karen M. Smith FO Box 20062 Juneau AK 99802

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Robert Ceson
3004 Blue bevy hills Rd.
Junear, At 99801
723-0806

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Peggy Bray
Peggy Bray
900 Hermit St. #9
Juneau, Ak. 99801
907-789-0937

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

Rayener Feb. 25, 2014
Branca Carpener Feb. 25, 2014
634 Seward St. Juneau, AK 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

LGREN JONES P.O. BEX 240703 Douglas, AK 29824

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

LAUREN ROE JONES 3281 DOUGLASHWY JUNEAU, AK 99801

"An Act establishing a Board of Massage Therapists; relating to the licensing of massage therapists; and providing for an effective date."

House Bill 328 and Senate Bill 188 seek to provide industry and educational standards to promote a code of ethics, public safety, self-regulation, accountability, business development, grievance process and therapy access.

Currently Alaska is one of six states not regulating the massage therapy profession. A professional code of ethics develops a scope of practice including education, contraindications, body system, potential results, and above all safety.

Licensing endorses small business development by allowing a therapist to become a preferred provider and bill insurance directly versus going through chiropractors, physical therapists and physicians.

Creating a standard of practice allows consumers to educate themselves to the standard of care they should expect and helps them find the most appropriate therapy style for their individual care.

This bill encourages greater professional opportunities for therapists. With the massage therapy profession growing at an average rate of 120 therapists each year, now is the time to create clear industry standards for the health and safety of Alaskans.

This legislation is in response to 84% of surveyed massage therapists supporting state licensure. I support their efforts and I ask you to please join me in support of this vital fundamental legislation.

LAVEA GREGOVICH

POB 210725

AUKE BAY, AK

79821