FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2016 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. CSSB 6

Analysis

Bill Analysis: SB 6 would exempt Alaska from observing Daylight Saving Time, increasing the time displacement from the financial markets. Under the current Federal law, this would require APFC fixed income traders to arrive at work at 3:45 am for the eight months that Daylight Saving Time is observed. SB 6 also includes a provision requesting that United States Department of Transportation change the time zone in which Alaska is located to the Pacific standard time zone. If this request is granted, then Alaska would be four hours behind the Eastern time zone during the months Daylight Saving Time is observed, which is the status quo, and only three hours behind the Eastern time zone for the balance of the year.

APFC already faces the challenge of recruiting fixed income traders away from the financial markets for public sector wages. This change could affect the ability to retain and recruit quality employees for these positions, potentially requiring the APFC to outsource some or all of the fixed income trading to Outside firms. A rough estimate of the cost of outsourcing the portfolios presently managed in-house is $15 million, though this would be offset by reductions in the $2.7 million internal program. Because it is unclear if this program would have to be outsourced, and to what degree, the fiscal note is indeterminate.
