Resume Addendum:

Commentary on previous and current commission service:

Continuity of commission member service is critical to the orderly functioning of the Commission on Judicial Conduct due to 'institutional knowledge' gained as service elapses. Unfortunately, few commission members have the opportunity to serve more than one, and rarely two terms. Through my service since January of 2008 there have been a number of policy, procedural, and determination decisions that I was able to place in historical context for the commission. I believe that this is of considerable importance when considering my application.
