Senate Resources Committee Presentation

Bruce D. Webb Senior Vice President April 9, 2016

Operating Alaska LLC

Overview: Tax Credits = Jobs

FURIE

Operating Alaska LLC

- Tax credits support current and future investments in Alaska
- Investments create jobs and bring revenue to the State and local governments
- Furie has invested over $$ 700$ million in Alaska (drilled 5 wells, installed offshore platform, 15+ miles of subsea pipeline, and Nikiski onshore processing facility)
- During 2015, Furie directly employed over 300 people in Alaska
- New gas supply supports local economic activity and reduces cost of energy
- Furie has reinvested all tax credits to fund exploration and development
- Without continued tax credits, we will have to significantly reduce future investment which will result in job loses

Tax Credits Help Alaskans by Supporting Development

Alaskans have benefitted directly and indirectly from Furie's investments, which would not have been economical without the presence of all the Cook Inlet tax credits.

Tax credits benefit all Alaskans

- Lower energy prices from increased competition and additional supplies of natural gas
- Increased State revenues from royalties, leases rentals, and property taxes
- New jobs (direct and indirect) and influx of income to local businesses
- Lowers risk of future shortfalls in natural gas supply
- Reduced energy costs in Cook Inlet reduces, heating oil, diesel, jet fuel, and transportation costs of goods shipped throughout Alaska

Tax credits enable development

- KLU development economics relied upon all Cook Inlet tax credits for positive returns, including:
- 20\% QCE under AS 43.55.023(a)
- $25 \%$ loss credit under AS 43.55.023(b)
- $40 \%$ WLE under AS 43.55.023(I)
- Economics of future investments are at risk without tax credits
- Financing of tax credits provides liquidity required to support capital intensive projects, certainty going forward is needed

Benefits for Alaska

Tax credits are an investment in Alaska's economy that will ensure low-cost energy security and provide a return to the State and its citizens for many years to come.

- Over 300 jobs at peak of development, high probability of future developments
- Property taxes paid to the state and various cities and boroughs:
- 2012-2015: $2.9 million total
- 2016 (estimated): $$ 4.8$ million
- Lease rentals paid to the State since 2011: $$ 1.6$ million
- Estimated royalties of up to $$ 300$ million over the life of the current reserves
- Royalties, lease rentals and property taxes support local communities and create jobs

Tax credits can extend the downward pricing trend and prevent future supply shortages

General Comments about SB 130 / HB 247

- Repeal of credits under AS 43.55.023(a) (QCE) and (I) (WLE) will stifle or stop investments
- $25 \%$ loss credit under AS $43.55 .023(b)$-- which HB 247 leaves in place -- is helpful, but not adequate if QCE and WLE are repealed given:
- high costs of oil and gas exploration and development in Alaska's Cook Inlet
- tax rate on oil will be $35 \%$ after 2021
- $25 million annual limitation on purchases of certificates is unreasonable and represents a virtual repeal of the program -- credits must be monetized timely to be useful for companies during capital intensive exploration and early development
- Transferable credits can be assigned and are vital for financing, which has provided needed liquidity -repeal of credits and additional limitations on purchase of credits will dramatically impact financing and investment
- Any changes to tax credits in 2016 is unreasonable and hits Cook Inlet in the middle of the offshore drilling season (perhaps even in the middle of the drilling of a well):
- budgets have been approved in light of current law
- contracts are already in place
- Furie is bringing another jack-up rig to Cook Inlet for additional exploration and development drilling this summer, and all credits are essential
- impacts on financing arrangements

Tax Credits Enable Development Companies to Access Low Cost Capital

- Tax credits have provided Furie with access to economical sources of funding
- Cost of funding declined from around $20 \%$ APR to $8 \%$ range
- Low rates offered by lenders are due to Alaska's historical support of the oil & gas industry and tax credit programs (low perceived "political risk")
- Lower cost of capital helps fund existing and future development of Alaska's resources
- Lenders require certainty and have now stopped lending
- Veto of 2015 appropriations almost crippled Furie's ability to access funding in the middle of the infrastructure installation
- Lenders now question if 2015 tax credits will be paid in 2016
- Proposed legislation with limits on cash repurchase and mid-year effective dates have shut down lending
- E&P companies need and ask for certainty to avoid curtailing capital investments planned for 2016 and beyond

Summary - Without Certainty Furie Will Have to Curtail Investments

Had the Governor's version of SB 130 / HB 247 been passed prior to 2015, Furie would not have been able to continue exploration nor complete it's first development in the Cook Inlet.

Should HB 247 pass in 2016, investments will drop dramatically.
Credits under AS 43.55.023 and funding for cash purchases of certificates are crucial for liquidity and economical financing

Financing and loan guarantee programs through AIDEA are welcome, but not a reasonable alternative to the tax credit program

Repeal in July 2016 will catch Cook Inlet in the middle of a drilling season

Tax credits have led to increased:
gas supplies for local users, jobs, economic activity, and revenues to the State
