Resume Addendum:

In connection with my application for the Judicial Council, note that I published two featured op-ed columns about the council in 2014, one in the Alaska Dispatch News and one in the Frontiersman. I have scanned one of the columns behind my resume. Obviously, the columns were written to stimulate a meaningful public debate, and they are quite confrontational. However, you will see from my resume that I have been a successful member of many committees and would be able to work with the current members of the Judicial Council, even though I disagree with the direction they have taken the Council.
