FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2017 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Analysis

This bill will clarify, amend, add, repeal and change quite a few statutes within workers' compensation. There are several reporting changes to the Alaska Workers Compensation Board's various forms from a manual process to an Electronic Data Input (EDI) process. The EDI form submittals are through a third party vendor. The cost to submit each form can range from $3.50 - $6.00 per form. Risk Management (RM) receives about 1,500 Report of Injury (ROI) forms a year, approximately 1,200 of those forms turn into compensable claims. Each claim can generate approximately 6 forms per claim, with some generating many more. Our Third Party Administrator (TPA) who handles the adjusting for the workers' compensation claim, has estimated a cost of approximately $40,000 per year to submit the current claim count through the EDI process.
