

Spencer Severson

March 15, 2019

Dear Alaska Legislators

I have been lived and fished in Alaska since 1981. Things have gotten scary lately with all the corporate money and high powered spin doctors coming in to influence our elections. I believe Jason Brune is a manifestation of that effort. There is no way that anyone with any information about this mining advocate could believe that he is any sort of impartial professional with the goal of protecting our environment and our waters while assuring careful development can take place. As an Alaskan i certainly want to see our resources developed in a manner which puts our waters and our way of life first. I am convinced Mr. Brune is a corporate stooge tasked with promoting the agenda of private profits public costs.

Please do not confirm this man to the Department of environmental Concervation.

Sent from my iPad