Arctic Partners

The United States is Canada's premier Arctic partner and an Arctic nation because of Alaska. Canada and the United States fight forest fires for each other, perform search and rescue, and together staff NORAD's Elmendorf-Richardson base in Anchorage. Canada is working closely with Alaska and the United States in the Arctic Council on important issues such as sustainable economic and social development and adapting to climate change. Both Canada and the United States are committed to ensuring Northerners have opportunities to participate in decisions that will affect their future.

Support for Alaskan Fishing

Salmon fishing accounts for 60% of all jobs in Alaska's fishing and seafood industry, and the state produces 60% of all American seafood.

Alaska General Seafoods, owned by Vancouver's Jim Pattison Group and the Canadian Fishing Company, operates two salmon processing plants in Ketchikan and Naknek and a fish camp in Egegik.

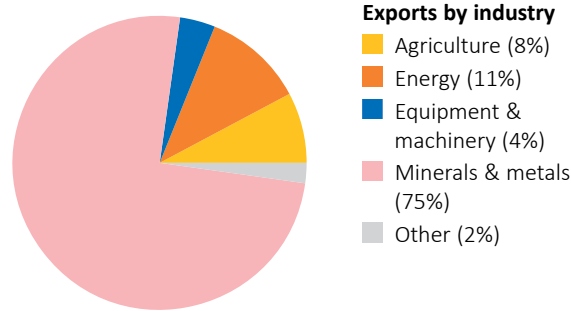

At peak salmon season the company employs over 900 people. Alaska General Seafoods produces canned salmon, frozen salmon fillets, frozen dressed salmon, Salmon roe and frozen roe for distribution in North America, Europe and Asia.

Investing in Alaska

There are over 50 Canadian-owned companies operating in the state of Alaska. These companies account for over 4,500 jobs throughout the state and contribute $257 million in salaries (based on an average of $56,700 per job — Bureau of Labor Statistics). These Canadian companies and their employees are major contributors to Alaska's economy.
