

Introduction

Created in the late 1970's, the Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO) program's stated purpose is to assist in the protection of "life and property" and coordinate probation and parole in rural communities.

Currently, ten entities operate VPSO grants (hereinafter "grantee"). Eight of the ten grantees are regionally based nonprofit corporations whose missions are to cultivate self-determination among local tribal citizens. However, the grantee nonprofit corporations themselves are comprised of federally recognized tribes and their formation dates to a time when all three state branches of government refused to acknowledge that tribes existed in this state. The tribes formed nonprofits as a way to interact with state agencies to operate state grant programs, like the VPSO program.

Of the ten grantees, seven compact with the federal government under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (P.L. 93-638 as amended) as federally recognized tribes to deliver healthcare and other governmental programs to their tribal citizens including cultural services, early childhood education, language preservation, and economic and resource development assistance.

The Northwest Arctic Borough, a home rule regional government seated in Kotzebue, is the only grantee organization that is a municipal government.

The grantees are listed below:

- Chugachmiut is consortium of seven tribes in the Chugach region of Southcentral Alaska surrounding the Prince William Sound. The corporation serves a population of roughly 2,200 Sugpiaq (Alutiiq) and Eyak peoples in communities including Chenega, Seward, and Valdez.
- Copper River Native Association is headquartered in Glenallen and delivers services to the Ahtna Athabaskan peoples of the Copper River Basin, 150 miles east of Anchorage.
- Aleutian Pribiloff Islands Association serves Unangax tribal citizens in 13 communities in Southwestern Alaska, the Aleutian Chain, and the Pribilof Islands.
- Kodiak Area Native Association serves Alaska Natives, primarily Sugpiaq tribal citizens, on the Kodiak Archipelago.
- Kawerak is the nonprofit arm of the Bering Straits Native Association which was formed in 1967 as an association of the Native Villages in the Bering Straits region: It serves tribal citizens who are primarily Inupiat, Yup'ik and St. Lawrence Island Yupik.

- Northwest Arctic Borough is a regional government in Northwestern Alaska whose population is approximately 7,800 and includes the communities of Ambler, Buckland, Deering, Kiana, Kivalina, Kobuk, Kotzebue, Noatak, Noorvik, Selawik & Shungnak.
- Alaska Village Council Presidents is a consortium that includes 56 tribes in the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta. The population served is primarily Yup'ik, Cup'ig, and Cup'ik.
- Bristol Bay Native Association is a consortium of tribal councils in the Bristol Bay region that serves tribal citizens located in communities including King Salmon, Iliamna, and Naknek.
- Tanana Chiefs Association is located in interior Alaska and represents represents 42 primarily Athabaskan tribes in the Yukon-Koyukuk area and Greater Fairbanks.
- Central Council of Tlingit & Haida Indian Tribes of Alaska is the first federally recognized tribe in the state, and serves Tlingit and Haida tribal citizens in Southeast Alaska.

While the VPSO program has provided valuable service to participating areas, the past decade has seen shrinking numbers of VPSOs, significant difficulty in recruitment and retention of officers, and community needs that surpass the current duties of VPSOs. There is undoubtedly a need [FOR CHANGE] to address the crisis in public safety infrastructure and service in rural Alaska.

On May 9th, 2019, Senate President Cathy Giessel and House Speaker Bryce Edgmon announced the creation of a Joint House/Senate Working Group to provide [FOR THE PURPOSES OF PROVIDING] substantive policy recommendations related to the VPSO program.

Appointed to the working group were: Senator Donny Olson, Co-Chair; Representative Chuck Kopp, Co-Chair; Senator Click Bishop; Senator Mike Shower; Representative Bryce Edgmon; and Representative George Rauscher.

The working group was assigned to coordinate with stakeholders to examine the underlying causes of the recruitment and retention obstacle and provide proposals to turn around the epidemic rate of personnel turnover within the VPSO program.

The working group has since held meetings, attended community meetings, participated in listening sessions, and worked with stakeholders to arrive at the proposals outlined in this report. The proposals will primarily address the core problem of increasing the number of VPSO's available to communities. This report will further address other fundamental issues such as: inequity in pay, lack of housing, officer safety, low morale, the [AND] inability to generate more interest from applicants in rural Alaska, and the role of Alaska Native Tribes in reaching solutions [AS A POSSIBLE SOLUTION WILL BE CONSIDERED].

Working Group Activities

The VPSO working group and its co-chairs spent the interim engaging VPSO program stakeholders. Engagement activities primarily included [INCLUDED PRIMARILY] formal listening sessions, but also meetings and conversations at the Alaska Federation of Natives annual meeting and the Tribal Unity Caucus’ annual meeting. The following is a list of those events (summaries of the events convened by the working group are included in Appendix 3):

- August 14, 2019: Full working group holds listening session with the Commissioner of the Department of Public Safety (hereinafter “commissioner”) and her staff that manage the VPSO grants.
- August 19, 2019: Co-chairs attend the U.S. Department of Interior, Bureau of Indian Affairs rural public safety listening session in Nome.
- September 4, 2019: Co-chairs attend AFN’s Council for the Advancement of Alaska Natives committee pre-convention planning meeting.
- September 27, 2019: Full working group holds listening sessions with the VPSO grantee organizations’ VPSO coordinators (hereinafter “grantee”, “grantee organization,” or “provider”).
- October 17, 2019: Co-chairs participate at the AFN annual convention panel focusing on rural public safety.
- November 15, 2019: Full working group attends the Northwest Arctic Borough’s Public Safety Commission meeting, along with Assistant U.S. Attorney Bryan Wilson.
- December 2, 2019: Full working group attends the Tribal Unity Caucus’ annual meeting, including a listening session for the working group comprised of the statewide Tribal leaders, many whose organizations administer VPSO grants.
- January 8, 2020: Co-chairs meet with the grantee organizations leadership and VPSO management personnel at the Aleutian Pribiloff Islands Association headquarters in Anchorage.
- January 9, 2020: Full working group meeting at the Anchorage LIO to review the draft report.

Summary

Working group members represent a wide swath of Alaska and have districts that touch rural and urban communities. Among the members, there was immediate agreement that the public safety needs of Alaskans are paramount, and that all discussions related to the VPSO program should begin with the recognition that keeping our communities safe is the highest priority. There was similarly unanimous agreement that the program is in need of change to better serve Alaskans. Individual working group members, specifically Co-Chair Olson, who lives in a rural village well served by the VPSO program, do not view the program as failed or broken. When the working group met with the VPSO grantees’ [ORGANIZATION’S] coordinators, the people that manage the program for each grantee [ORGANIZATION], the consensus view among them was that the program is not broken, though [BUT] it is distressed.

Upon the conclusion of the legislative session, the working group met with the commissioner of the Department of Public Safety (hereinafter “department”) and her staff to discuss the VPSO program’s current state. In conversations with the commissioner and her team, they made it clear that statutory barriers prevent [EXISTED TO] changing the course of the VPSO program. This guidance gave the working group a clear direction for investigation and the certainty that changes by the legislature were required. As is reflected in this report, statute changes represent the most efficient way to seek rapid improvements to the program.

The working group found the commissioner and her staff earnest and sincere in their management of the program. In taking [HOWEVER, AS THE WORKING GROUP TOOK THE] commissioner's advice to examine the VPSO statutes, it became clearer that she, her predecessors, and the department have indeed been constrained by a weak and ambiguous statutory vision, mission, and duties for the VPSO program and personnel. When one examines the statutes, especially compared to the statutory duties of State Troopers, it becomes obvious that the statutes have led to the current shortcomings the program experiences. Essentially, the current VPSO statute provides virtually no mission, vision, or statutory law enforcement duties for the program or the VPSO personnel.

The statutory deficiency has led to differing expectations for the program. This confusion results in difficulty in grant administration, strain in community policing expectations, and contradictory appropriation expectations.

In the working group's individual meeting with the commissioner and her staff and then the grantees’ [ORGANIZATIONS'] coordinators, requests for funding were discussed by both parties. At the department level, many of the programs’ requests are viewed as inappropriate. The grantees’ [ORGANIZATIONS’] perspective is that there is a lack of transparency to all matters relating to funding as well as a mother-may-I approach to funding requests and that the department nickel and dimes the programs via the approval process.

Neither is entirely right and neither is entirely wrong. Both represent a view of the problem from each's perspective. With little clarity available from the statutes, those differences are likely to persist. The department is an executive branch agency bound by its statutes and the constitutional restrictions to not exceed the bounds of its statutory authority. The grantees[ORGANIZATIONS], even though not defined as law enforcement agencies, are the de facto law enforcement first responders to all public safety crises in their regions. They are, out of necessity, fulfilling law enforcement functions, even though the statutes do not give them formal law enforcement status.

The grantees [ORGANIZATIONS] live this dilemma daily, crisis by crisis in their home communities and this is what drives their perspective. The department personnel may understand this dichotomy, but historically have not pushed the program's law enforcement function beyond the letter of the existing VPSO statutes.

In the course of the multiple listening sessions the working group heard from citizens on the urgent need to improve the program and find solutions to the recruitment and retention challenges. At each listening session the working group heard account after account of the hardships created by the lack of VPSO personnel and thus any public safety presence in a number of the communities served by the program.

The working group's recommendations focus on both short-term goals—that can be accomplished within a year or perhaps legislative session —and long-term goals.

Outside of clarifying [CLARIFICATION OF] the law enforcement duties expected of the program's officers, other short-term improvement proposals have surfaced through the working group's listening sessions. Relating to the issue of fund disbursement and approvals, the working group believes that updates to the VPSO statute can include specific authority that streamlines funding disbursement. Likewise, broadened and specific statutory law enforcement duties and functions should provide the flexibility to reduce the perceived overly restrictive funding approval process.

Separating the operational oversight from the funding management is another solution that seems achievable in the short term. A perception among [OF] the VPSO grantees [PROVIDER ORGANIZATIONS] is that an inherent conflict between the VPSO programs and the Division of Alaska State Troopers exists as it relates to the VPSO appropriation. These perceptions, along with the historic conflicting views of the program and the program's funding needs, make it seem unlikely that these competing views can be reconciled in the short term. Thus, the working group believes it best for the VPSO program if the financial oversight for the grants be moved to a different department.

The long-term goals will require the legislature and Alaskans generally to confront long standing and often ignored issues that impact public safety in the state's rural areas. First among these is how the state chooses to acknowledge and work with tribal governments.

The working group believes a lack of any formal working relationship with tribal governments in regard to public safety has greatly contributed to the lack of infrastructure and service in rural communities. However, working with tribal governments also includes working with and coordinating with the federal government. The federal government has reserved for itself the authority to set policy for how it, and consequently [THE] states, deal and interact with this country's indigenous peoples' and their governments.

There is an opportunity for the legislature to change the way in which it acknowledges tribal governance, following in the example of the Alaska Supreme Court and, as of 2017, the executive branch. This report categorizes the [THIS] formalization of a working relationship with Tribal governments as a long-term goal due to the significance of the policy change that it represents. However, the working group similarly has full confidence that it is within the legislature's power to make this important change.

The working group has taken great interest in the U.S. Attorney General's and the U.S. Department of Justice's interest and commitment to better meeting rural public safety needs. The Attorney General declared a public safety emergency in rural Alaska in June 2019, roughly six weeks after this working group was established. With the Attorney General's declaration, he freed up roughly $10 million to help address the crisis. Thus far, this funding [THE FUNDING COMING FROM THE U.S. ATTORNEY GENERAL] appears to be one-time or special funding. Finding a way to secure [CREATE] recurring federal funds for these programs is something that the legislature, tribes, and our Congressional delegation can commit to working on together for the long-term health of our rural communities.

A working group of this nature and with limited time necessarily has limitations. This report does not seek to answer or address broader questions such as how to manage or provide for the state's police power. Nor does it attempt to establish how or what role municipalities should play and how they relate to the VPSO program. The working group's starting assignment was to find solutions to improve the program.

Further, this report reflects priorities the working group heard while discharging its duties and reflect the experience many of the grantees have under P.L. 93-638 and the flexibility they have managing both the federal programs and the funds to operate those programs. The success the tribes have had under the federal law is one reason the working group cites exploring long-term ways the state may model compacting after the federal model. By almost any measure, the federal policy of Self-Determination has been successful as the tribes have been able to institute creative solutions to local challenges. The working group would like to mirror this success with similar state policies. The working group also recognizes, however, that this level of flexibility requires a long-term view.

Long Term Goals:

- Continue working with federal partners on:
 - Training: with formal state tribal recognition, tribes may be able access federal law enforcement training programs; these federal programs could augment the Trooper academy where current VPSO training is offered. The federal training could be offered in other regions of the state besides Sitka. The monolithic/Sitka only training makes recruitment difficult; offering training closer to home for other regions could improve VPSO recruitment and retention;

- Greater recurring federal funds for public safety: Alaska is a Federal P.L. 280 state where states have concurrent criminal jurisdiction with Tribes, unlike non-P.L.280 states. The BIA historically does not request tribal court or law enforcement appropriations for P.L 280 states, making the law an unfunded mandate for P.L. 280 tribes and states. Senator Murkowski has secured special funding for tribal court development in P.L. 280 states. These efforts need to continue and the state should take every step necessary to encourage the Alaska Congressional delegation to secure such recurring funding.
- Explore passing a state version of the Indian Self-Determination Act and Education Assistance Act (P.L. 93-638 as amended): if passed, the state could formally compact with Tribes and offer the maximum amount of program design/redesign and financial flexibility for the various VPSO grantees;^[ORGANIZATIONS];
- Consider creating upward mobility for VPSO positions: either through compacting or state statutory changes or both, consider providing for different levels of VPSO personnel related to levels of training; the highest VPSO level being equivalent in function, training, and pay to a State Trooper.
- Work to define the true cost of providing fully operational public safety services throughout rural Alaska. To date the VPSO program represents a line item with a single department's annual budget. And the budget request for the program has varied depending differing administrations' views and goals for the program. However, with a more specific statutory mission the legislature will need an accurate assessment of the VPSO program costs required to meet that mission.
- [CONSIDER EXPANDING AND POSSIBLY ROLLING THE VPSO PROGRAM INTO THE REGIONAL PUBLIC SAFETY OFFICER PROGRAM OF AS 18.65.680 WHICH HAS A CLEARLY ARTICULATED LAW ENFORCEMENT MISSION AND STATUTORY DUTIES.]

VPSO Recommendations and Findings

Short Term Recommendations

Recommendation 1. Update the VPSO statutes to provide a clear law enforcement and public safety vision and mission for the program and provide VPSO personnel clear law enforcement duties and powers.

Findings:

1. The current VPSO statute contains no clear law enforcement function or duties for VPSO personnel. Neither does the statute contain a clear vision or mission for the VPSO program

Table 1: VPSO statutes compared to State Trooper statutes:

2. The lack of clearly articulated law enforcement duties for the VPSOs has hindered the program's effectiveness by allowing different expectations for the program to grow between the grantee organizations (and their constituencies) and the Department of Public Safety.
 - a. While the current statute lacks a clear public safety and law enforcement vision and mission, the Commissioner of the Department of Public Safety has broad authority over the program and over public safety statewide. No commissioner in the history of the program has exercised the available discretion to give the program a clear public safety or law enforcement mission, vision, or functions.
 - b. The history of the program has shown it is not reasonable to expect a department or one person at the commissioner level to exercise the legislature's public policy function and give the VPSO program a clear public safety and law enforcement mission, vision, and functions.
 - c. The legislature shares responsibility for [IN] allowing the state of public safety in rural Alaska to reach its current condition by failing to recognize earlier the deficiencies in the VPSO statutes.
3. Consider the Regional Public Safety Officer statute as a model. AS 18.65.680

Alaska Statute § 18.65.010(b)	Alaska Stat. § 18.65.080

Recommendation 2. Create more financial flexibility for the VPSO grantee organizations into the updated VPSO statutes.

Findings:

1. Historic and current Department of Public Safety statutory and program interpretation has denied to the grantee organizations an effective voice in the planning and implementation of this important program for the benefit of the residents within their respective regions; and
2. The grantee organizations' work with federal partners in managing and delivering health and social service programs set a clear example that a compacting relationship can occur with less conflict; and
3. Examples of problems with the program's management by the department include current regulations and denials for funding requests that:
 - a. forbid spending grant money on facilities or housing;

- b. forbid grantee organizations from supplementing VPSO salaries or offering bonuses with other non-VPSO grant funds;
- c. The Copper River program has four villages on the road system. The department has forbidden the VPSOs from traveling between villages by only approving enough funds to fill a half a tank of gas for their State-provided vehicle.
- d. Other regions commented that they also have been denied funds to move VPSOs from village to village within the region when the needs arise. Or denied funds to have a VPSO in "roving" status so they could be flexible and responsive to public safety needs that occur or to manage vacancies within the VPSO work force.
- e. Flexibility for the funds changes often with fluctuations in the department

Recommendation 3. Restore VPSO funding levels to FY18 levels.

Findings

- 1. The combination of a lack of clear law enforcement vision, mission, and duties for the program and the problematic approach to grant funding approvals has led to artificial funding lapses with the program.
- 2. The funding lapses were used as justification for reducing the current year VPSO program budget.

Recommendation 4. Fund [REPEAL] unfunded mandates.

Findings.

- 1. Current regulations require the grantees to [GRANTEE ORGANIZATIONS] provide certain infrastructure or absorb additional liability and costs but forbid grant funds from covering the expenses. Examples include:
 - a. Grantees must provide housing and program related facilities (office space, holding cells);
 - b. Grantees must indemnify the state for liability arising from the program's operations and thereby incur the associated insurance cost.

Recommendation 5. Related to Recommendation 4, in an updated VPSO statute, mandate that grant awards pay grantee organization their full indirect costs.

Findings.

These findings are based on comments made during listening sessions and on a presentation made at the 3/4/2019 House Tribal Affairs Committee (presentation is included as Appendix 4).

- 1. The Department institutes a cap on how much the program will pay of an organization's indirect costs. Indirect costs represent overhead type costs a nonprofit or tribal organization incurs in operating multiple programs with different cost centers. Examples of items that factor into indirect costs include:
 - a. Human resources services including recruitment efforts;

- b. Computer and IT infrastructure;
 - c. Finance services including payroll and accounts receivable/payable;
 - d. Organization administration, etc.
2. Artificially capping how much the program will pay indirect costs is an unfunded mandate and has the effect of requiring the grantee organizations to subsidize the VPSO program.
3. The VPSO program fulfills the public safety mission and police powers of the State of Alaska and the state should not require the program operators to subsidize a state program.

Recommendation 6. Move financial grant management to the Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development.

Findings.

1. Current lack of clear law enforcement mission, vision, and duties for the program has led to a conflict of roles within the department between the VPSO program and the Division of Alaska State Troopers;
2. Findings of examples of denied funding requests or VPSO role suppression:
 - a. New tires for all terrain vehicles where the vehicles themselves were approved program expenses;
 - b. Funds to allow VPSO personnel to rove between villages within a grantee organization region;
 - c. The department via regulation has forbidden VPSOs from working on felonies even though the department's own data shows that when VPSOs work felonies like sexual assault, the conviction rate for those crimes go up.
 - d. VPSOs are not permitted to attend SART (sexual assault response team) training. The justification given that "SART training is for Alaska State Troopers."

Recommendation 7. Maintain operational advisory, training and experience requirement oversight at the Department of Public Safety.

Findings.

1. Continued qualification and training oversight will be needed for the continued operation of the VPSO program.
2. For the short term, the department is still the agency most capable of providing the program with operational oversight.

Recommendation 8. In statute create a Tribal/Grantee organization consultation process before the Department can change training and experience requirements.

Findings.

1. While formal statutory state/tribal compacting is examined as a long term goal, community public safety and effective law enforcement is an important enough public policy issue that allowing a government-to-government process for important elements of the program can only help to empower the communities operating the program and help to create a stronger and more viable program.
2. The grantees [ORGANIZATIONS] are in the best position to know and understand the training and experience needs required to offer effective law enforcement for their communities.

Recommendation 9. Revised versions (consistent with the recommendations of this report) of current VPSO regulations need to be placed in statute in order to operationalize the VPSO program and to facilitate the grant management moving to the Department of Commerce.

Current VPSO Statutes and Regulations

Statutes

Sec. 18.65.670. Village public safety officers program. (a) There is created in the Department of Public Safety a village public safety officer program to assist local governments and villages through nonprofit regional corporations, Alaska Native organizations, or municipalities to appoint, train, supervise, and retain persons to serve as village public safety officers to administer functions relative to

(1) the protection of life and property in rural areas of the state; and

(2) providing probation and parole supervision to persons under supervision by communicating with and monitoring the activities and progress of these persons at the direction of probation and parole officers.

(b) With funds appropriated for that purpose, the commissioner of public safety shall provide grants to nonprofit regional corporations and Alaska Native organizations for village public safety officers. If a nonprofit regional corporation for a rural area or Alaska Native organization declines a grant under this subsection, the commissioner may provide the grant to a municipality with a population of less than 10,000 willing to administer the grant for the rural area. Before awarding a grant to a municipality, the commissioner shall consult with the nonprofit regional corporation or Alaska Native organization that declined the grant. The commissioner of public safety shall coordinate with the commissioner of corrections when providing grants under this section, and the commissioners shall jointly execute an agreement with the nonprofit regional corporations, Alaska Native organizations, or municipalities, as appropriate.

(c) The commissioner of public safety may adopt regulations related to village public safety officers, including minimum standards and training, criteria for participation by a community, a municipality, an Alaska Native organization, or a corporation, and the interaction between the Department of Public Safety and village public safety officers. Regulations adopted by the commissioner of public safety under this subsection may not prohibit village public safety officers who otherwise meet minimum standards and training from carrying firearms. If the commissioner of public safety adopts regulations regarding training for village public safety officers, at a minimum, that training must include disability training that provides training in the subjects set out in AS 18.65.220(3). The commissioner of corrections may adopt regulations related to the functions of village public safety officers providing probation and parole supervision.

- (b) A nonprofit regional corporation may not use grant money to employ a village public safety officer for a period of more than 24 months unless the officer obtains a village public safety officer certificate from the department as set out in 13 AAC 96.110. Upon written application from a nonprofit regional corporation, the department will, in its discretion, extend this period up to six months to permit the officer to complete the training necessary under 13 AAC 96.110, if the officer is unable to do so in the first 24 months of employment because of an illness, injury, or emergency.

13 AAC 96.090. Personnel and training records about a village public safety officer is confidential and available only for review by that officer. A village public safety officer or an individual who applies for employment as a village public safety officer may not review information that another individual supplied with the understanding that the information or its source would remain confidential, unless the information serves as the basis for a decision to deny or revoke a certificate under 13 AAC 96.110 - 13 AAC 96.120.

Summary of Full Working Group Meetings

The Legislative VPSO workgroup and Commissioner Price and staff met at 10:00am, August 14, 2019 in the Foraker conference room in the Anchorage LIO.

Present in the room were: Co-Chairs Senator Olson and Representative Kopp. From the Department of Public Safety: Commissioner Price, Colonel Wilson, and Captain Merrill. Legislative staff: Dale Erickson, Jake Almeida, Terrence Shanigan, and Logan Basner.

Present on the teleconference were: Senator Bishop, Senator Shower, Representative Lincoln, legislative staff Rose Foley, Laura Stidolph, Christopher Clark, and Ken Truitt.

The working group had an informal and free flowing conversation with the Commissioner and her staff that manage the VPSO program.

Co-Chair Kopp opened the meeting at 10:04am. The following are the highlights of the conversation that occurred.

1. Update the existing VPSO statutes. Commissioner Price's main message was the current statutes need to be addressed to fully satisfy the VPSO grantees. She said this several different ways. She started her discussion by pointing out DPS is nothing more than a granting agency and they manage appropriations according to how the statute permits them to. Later in the meeting she made the point to the working group "to consider whether the statutes as they are written meets the current [policy] needs."
 - a. DPS has no broad vision for the program. When asked about long term goals or vision for the program the commissioner relayed they did not have that and reiterated that they implement the statutes as they are written.
 - b. Veto to the program. Co-Chair Olson asked the commissioner what her role was in the vetoes that the program suffered. A discussion of prior administrations' veto processes was offered by Senator Bishop. The commissioner relayed the ultimate decision for vetoes were handled within the governor's office.
2. No working group consensus on status/health of current VPSO program. The commissioner and Captain Merrill made statements that the program is broken and cannot be fixed. Captain Merrill made the point that "having non-profits running police forces is a fundamental problem, there's no fixing it." The commissioner deflected slightly by pointing out that former Commissioner Monegan and Governor Walker were the first to publicly announce that the program is broken. Both working group co-chairs refuted the conclusion that the VPSO program is broken.
3. No working consensus on the DPS assertion that grantees have been unable to spend the full appropriation. The commissioner and staff reported that a problem they have in managing the program is grantees being unable to spend the grand funds within the fiscal year. And grantees attempting to improperly use grant funds on non-program related items or functions. Captain Merrill gave a regional high school basketball tournament and VPSO travel expenses as an example.

- a. Further analysis. Discussion amongst the legislators and DPS officials ensued. Representative Lincoln, a non-working group member who is on the House Tribal Affairs Committee disputed this assertion. Senator Olson also expressed that it was more likely a difference in opinion in how to interpret and apply the statutes than either an inability to spend funds or improperly use funds. Senator Shower expressed interest in exploring broad changes to address the identified issues.
4. VPSO's carrying firearms. The working group and the commissioner discussed the issue of VPSO's carrying firearms. The commissioner reported that none of the programs arm their VPSOs even though a statute change several years ago allowed for that. She mentioned the main reason was liability issues.
5. Reducing grant awards to "struggling" programs and re-appropriating funds to "successful" program. The commissioner mentioned that in this grant year they would be taking away from "struggling" programs and re-appropriating those funds to the "good" programs.

Co-Chair Kopp announced that the workgroup will tentatively meet on October 16, 2019, in Fairbanks during the pre-AFN week Tribal Summit. Many of the VPSO grantee organizations would be there and it would be an ideal time to hold a field hearing. AFN is finalizing its agenda and when the date is firm formal notice will follow.

Co-Chair Kopp also announced that he and fellow co-chair Senator Olson will be attending the Department of Interior, Assistant Secretary for Indian Affairs' rural public safety listening sessions the week of August 19, 2019, in Nome (8/19/2019) and Bethel (8/21/2019).

The meeting adjourned at 11:20am.

The Legislative VPSO workgroup and the Village Public Safety Officer grantee VPSO Coordinators met at 10:00am, September 27, 2019 in the 4th floor conference room in the Anchorage LIO.

Present in the room were: Co-Chairs Senator Olson and Representative Kopp. From the VPSO grantees: Jason Wilson Tlingit & Haida, Leonard Wallner Chugachmiut, Chris Hatch Copper River Native Association, TC Kamai Kodiak Area Native Association, Michael Nemeth Aleutian Pribiloff Islands Association, Gina Appolloni Kawerak, Aucha Kameroff Northwest Arctic Borough. Legislative staff: Amory Lelake, Kari Nore, Sam Greely, and Logan Basner.

Present on the teleconference were: Senator Bishop, Representative Edgmon, and Representative Rauscher. From the VPSO grantees: Alvin Jimmie Alaska Village Council Presidents, Bonnie Kopoff Bristol Bay Native Association, Tiffany Simmons Tanana Chiefs Conference. Legislative staff Rose Foley, Christopher Clark, Dale Erickson, Derrell Breese, and Ken Truitt.

The working group members had an informal and free flowing conversation with the VPSO Coordinators.

Co-Chair Kopp opened the meeting at 10:04am. Co-Chairs Olson and Kopp offered opening remarks including referencing the questions for discussion distributed with the meeting invite:

1. What is working well about the VPSO program?
2. What problems do you encounter in trying to make the program successful?
3. What changes could the legislature make statutorily that could address those problems?
4. What could the legislature do to increase the numbers of VPSO officers?
5. Anything else about the program and the management of it you think we should know.

Both co-chairs thanked the VPSO coordinators, some of them traveled to be at the teleconference site in person. Senator Olson opened by expressing his appreciation for the program in his district and said it is working very well in his region, but that he understands how hard it is to sustain programs especially when a program might lose a long tenured VPSO to retirement.

The following are the highlights of the conversation that occurred.

1. What is working well about the VPSO program? From the coordinators:
 - a. The VPSO workforce itself. There's been some negative press about the VPSO workforce recently, but by and large the workforce statewide is a competent force that excel in providing community based policing.
 - b. The VPSO statewide program coordinators provide solid statewide leadership for the program. Among the coordinators are a retired Sergeant from the State Troopers and a retired municipal chief of police as well as coordinators with decades of experience as VPSOs. The coordinators are employed by each grantee agency. The coordinators meet as a group regularly and work well together and arrive at innovative solutions to the unique challenges they encounter in operating the program.

- c. The coordinators and programs generally have a positive working relationship with the Department of Public Safety.
- d. The program is a good program and is not broken. It is challenged just like any other public safety agency whether it be fire fighting or police.

2. What problems do you encounter in trying to make the program successful? From the coordinators:

- a. Lack of support from the Department of Public Safety and a historic lack of support at the commissioner level: Even more than the amount of funding for the program, the coordinators expressed the lack of full support as a higher fundamental challenge. The group has the sense that the department is conflicted in its management of the VPSO program and historically has never fully supported the program. This was expressed in several ways:

- i. “The department/State Troopers always put themselves before the VPSO program.”
- ii. “Support for the VPSO program varies depending on the commissioner.”
- iii. “In my time running a program, there has never been a commissioner come out and publicly support the VPSO program.”
- iv. Regarding the current Commissioner: “I applaud that she spent an entire day with us getting to know our program. That’s something no other commissioner has ever done. But, we have heard no positive messages from the Commissioner about the VPSO program.”

- b. Lack of flexibility in using program funds and timeliness of decisions about requests for use of funds. The group mentioned that this dynamic at times is even more problematic than the amount of funds appropriated to run the program. This particular item almost every region commented on and as a group they said there were many more examples that they could give, but held their examples to the following:

- i. The Copper River program has four villages on the road system. The department forbids the VPSOs from traveling between villages by only approving enough funds to fill a half a tank of gas for their State provided vehicle.
- ii. A request for new tires for an all terrain vehicle was denied, yet this was for a vehicle that was itself an approved purchase with VPSO funds.
- iii. Other regions commented that they also have been denied funds to move VPSOs from village to village within the region when the needs arise. Or denied funds to have a VPSO in “roving” status so they could be flexible and responsive to public safety needs that occur or to manage vacancies within the VPSO work force.
- iv. Flexibility for the funds changes at the whim of the department.
- v. The coordinators have been conditioned/trained not to ask for some public safety related needs because they know their requests will be denied.
- vi. Regarding the inflexibility of funds, one coordinator said: “[T]he coordinators know what's needed in their regions. I'd put any coordinator up against any trooper about local knowledge. The trooper is not going to know. Thus, if a coordinator requests funding for a need, it is a legitimate need.”

- vii. On the timeliness of funding decisions, the group told a story from the Southeast region. A holding cell experienced a burst pipe in the late fall/early winter. The coordinator requested approval to use his funds for the repair right away. Because of the climate black mold set into the walls, floor, and subfloor while his request was pending. He would check on his request and just be told "it was still being reviewed." Then, on the next to last day of the grant year which is one day before the state fiscal year ended he was told he could use the funds to fix the holding cell but that he had to have all the funds expended by the next day's close. Because it was impossible to follow his organization's procurement rules in time to secure a contractor (if one could even be available on zero notice), do the demolition/mold abatement and reconstruction in less than 24 hours, he had to let the funding lapse.
- c. Micro-management by the department. Related to the inflexibility with the program funds, most all the coordinators expressed frustration with the micro-management the inflexibility produces. One coordinator remarked that it was getting worse, that they now have to ask permission to hire and ask for permission in how they use and deploy VPSOs where they never had to in the past. Also, there is a “flex funds” line in their grant budget awards and they now have to receive permission to expend those funds where in the past the funds were treated as discretionary.
- d. Lack of transparency about program decisions and program funds. The coordinators expressed a general lack of transparency about program decisions both policy and funding which make such decisions seem arbitrary. Several examples:
 - i. As a group they are aware that the department holds in reserve VPSO program funds to deal with unanticipated exigencies, but they have no idea how much is held back.
 - ii. Or, if one organization gets more positions whether that means that another organization loses positions.
 - iii. While the group operates by consensus, they are not always able to reach consensus. When this occurs, the commissioner is the final decision maker. Historically, the rationale for these decisions are not always shared with the coordinators.
 - iv. Initial VPSO training was cut in half even though the coordinators as a group supported the longer training regimen.
 - v. The department unilaterally announced with no prior notice that the grantees would be responsible for background checks for new hires.
 - vi. Annual continuing training for VPSOs was cut.
- e. Conflict between VPSO and State Trooper roles. The group identified this as both a barrier to more effective public safety/law enforcement and morale problems for the VPSO program. Specific areas identified:

- i. The department via administrative regulation has forbidden VPSOs from working on felonies even though the department's own data shows that when VPSOs work felonies like sexual assault, the conviction rate for those crimes go up.
- ii. The inconsistency of this prohibition with advancing public safety and the reality of rural public safety was captured by this comment: "In reality, VPSOs have always worked felonies." The commenter provided examples of where weather can keep flights out of some locations for 21 – 45 days, in those instances, he wondered "who's going to work those cases? The trooper who can't get there? Or the VPSO on the ground?"
- iii. VPSOs are not permitted to attend SART (sexual assault response team) training, the reason being "that's for Troopers".
- iv. Prohibitions against allowing standard police emergency lights to be mounted on the state provided VPSO vehicles. It was expressed that this can cause confusion with the public for programs on the road system and also sends a non-verbal message to all involved in the VPSO program that they are viewed differently by the department and not in a good way.

3. What changes could the legislature make statutorily that could address those problems?

Senator Olson asked the group what they thought of moving the grants management of the program from the Department of Public Safety to a different department, possibly the Department of Commerce.

- a. The group was generally favorable to the suggestion. No organization's representative spoke against the idea, those that commented were open to it. No formal vote was taken of the coordinators. The following comments reflect what the working group heard from the coordinators:
 - i. "Would not object because sometimes the VPSO program interests conflict with the department regarding use of funds." This idea was echoed and the group expressed the sense that the department has a bias against the VPSO program such that the difficulty in expending the funds somehow then gets diverted to the State Troopers. This was expressed as a question, not an accusation. Different coordinators expressed their respect for the department personnel they interact with and appreciation to the commissioner.
 - ii. "The [VPSO] program is not set up to succeed in the current format."
 - iii. "It no longer feels like a partnership between the VPSO program and the department." The sense being "they [the department] will meet with us and give a 'thank you for your input' and then they'll do whatever it was they wanted to do in the first place. It feels like the Trooper's division is trying to push the VPSOs out."
- b. Variations on whether to move the grants management to another agency yielded other ideas for programmatic changes. The notion of having more autonomy with program funds was the dominant theme, comments reflecting this:
 - i. "The role of the department should be technical expertise, not disbursement of funds."

- ii. “A lot of [the conflict over inflexibility of funds] would go away if the funds came directly to the grantees instead of coming through the Department of Public Safety.”
- iii. “Authorize the organizations to run their own programs without the need for the department’s approval for such minute dollar amounts.”
- iv. “Get rid of the capped indirect rate.” This comment reflects that many of the organizations have compacts with the federal government for either healthcare (DHHS) or other education and social program through the BIA. The federal law requires that federal agencies fully fund each organization’s indirect rate. The indirect rate is negotiated between the organization and the federal government and approved by the federal government.

At the close of the meeting Aucha Kameroff of the Northwest Arctic Borough invited the work group to the borough for a site visit.

Being primarily a listening session for the working group, the group took no formal action on anything discussed during the meeting. But different members expressed the desire to produce something meaningful that could be accomplished in the next legislative session and the desire to “once and for all get support for these public servants.”

The meeting adjourned at 12:00 noon.

The Legislative VPSO workgroup was invited to attend the Northwest Arctic Borough's Public Safety Commission meeting on November 15, 2019, in Kotzebue Alaska at the Northwest Arctic Borough assembly chambers.

The VPSO work group was on the Safety Commission's agenda for a listening session. Work group members present: Co-Chair Representative Kopp, Co-Chair Senator Olson via teleconference, Representative Edgmon, Representative Rauscher. Also present Representative Lincoln and Assistant United States Attorney Bryan Wilson (at the invitation of the VPSO work group).

At the start of the VPSO work group agenda item the co-chairs Senator Olson and Representative Kopp summarized the work group's activities and preliminary views to date. The Public Safety Commission proceeded to take public testimony.

Public testimony offered:

- VPSO presence in local communities is greatly appreciated and considered to be highly valuable by residents.
- Need to have established protocol for hand off of VPSOs by elders into the community to make sure they are welcomed and have support, this improves retention of the officer.
- Village public safety officer coordinators report a very strong interworking relationship, and that they appreciate the partnership with the Department of Public Safety and the Alaska state trooper division.
- The Northwest Arctic Borough emphasized that changes to state and federal grant requirements would help them to be eligible for funds to supplement their VPSO programs, specifically Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) grants. Currently only tribal entities are authorized to apply for these funds and the NWAB is not a tribal entity even though they have pulled the VPSO program underneath their funding umbrella and support it financially. They presently do not qualify for program capital renovation COPS grants so they work through third parties like the Manilaq health corporation to apply for the grant and then pass through the funds to the NWAB.
- NWAB Public Safety Commission:
 - Recommended the VPSO work group to consider Public Safety compacting in different regions of Alaska; it would allow more innovation and local control of the public safety challenges. It would also allow more community partnerships to fully engage on public safety needs.

- Current Department management of the VPSO program “nickels and dimes” grantee organizations, whereas under a compact this would be much less likely;
 - VPSO positions should be based on need, not based on how many positions were funded at the end of the last fiscal year;
 - Strongly support arming the VPSOs if there could be an agreement on extending state immunity protections to VPSOs and the grantee organizations.
- Department of public safety personnel attending the meeting gave a very good summary of how the AST/VPSO partnership has changed over the decades.
 - Currently, the department does not have the time and resources to do proper oversight of the VPSO program as the law enforcement officers job is getting more difficult and there is less respect in general for both VPSOs and troopers.
 - There is a recognized need for more infrastructure, jails, housing, and transportation.
 - Overtime burn out is becoming a real issue for the troopers. Demands of the job are becoming so extreme that there is almost no margins built-in to the workweek to provide needed support to VPSOs.
 - Troopers are focused on communities where there are no VPSOs.
- Long delay in background checks for applicants create hiring problems: a very slow CJIS clearance process. DPS Personnel said this is something they cannot control, that the backlog is with the department of justice.
 - Assistant United States attorney Bryan Wilson attended the meeting and said he would work with the department of justice to speed up the background investigation process for applicants as this would help applicants to not get discouraged and give up during the lengthy background investigation. He also said he would look to see how the federal grants could allow Borough and other municipality Public Safety commissions be eligible for VPSO funds that right now only tribes are allowed to apply for.
- Northwest Arctic Borough Assembly
 - Has tried to address recruitment of VPSOs with sign-on bonuses and additional pay, only to be told by DPS that the grantee organizations are forbidden from offering supplemental benefits. See 13 AAC 96.030(2).
 - The assembly recognizes the need for having a good behavioral health plan and moral support offered to VPSOs.
 - Their long-term goal is to get younger people interested in preparing for a public safety career with strong training opportunities. The need to reestablish the law enforcement explorer post program for high school age youth was discussed.

Work demands of the troopers have prevented them from partnering with this program in recent years.

Reconciliation to Audit

- Prior to development of the Indirect Cost Proposal, the figures must be tied to the audited financial statements.
- All variations must be identified. The Interior Business Center typically will require a breakdown of meeting fees to make sure we are only charging 50% to the indirect cost pool.

Limitations

Appendix 4

- Indirect Cap Examples:
 - Head Start
 - TANF
 - Community Service Block Grant (CSBG)
 - Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO) Program
 - Child Care
- Limits available contractors: those with available revenue to compensate shortfall
- Unrecoverable amounts may not be shifted from one Federal award to another.

Example: VPSO

- Shared Cap at 30%
 - Those with lower rates compensate for contractors with higher rates
 - Always under indirect cap as a group
- Active Efforts to minimize Indirect
 - Offsite Offices
 - Computer Network
 - Shifting Indirect burden to programming when possible

Tribe's Indirect Rates

- Administrative Pools are subtracted from the Indirect Cost Pool.
- Programs with Administrative Pools are subtracted from the Direct Base.
- One rate =
$$\frac{(\text{Indirect Cost Pool} - \text{Admin. Pool})}{(\text{Direct Cost Pool} - \text{Less Direct Program Funds with Admin. Pools})}$$

Interior Business Center

- The Interior Business Center (IBC) requires tribes to follow their template to derive carry-forwards.
- Tribe calculates carry-forward.
- Carry-forwards of indirect over/under recovery are applied two years in the future.
- Over-recoveries occur when the Tribe collects more indirect costs from a program than is apportioned to that program from the Indirect Cost Pool.
- The excess revenue is subtracted from the pool two (2) years in the future.

Carry-Forwards

- Under-recovery of revenue results in an increase in the next period's rate.
 - Actual indirect expenses exceed the calculated rate expenses and the collected amount.
- Over-recovery of revenue results in a decrease in the next period's rate.
 - Actual indirect expenses are less than the calculated rate expenses or collected amount.

Shortfalls vs. Carry-forward

- Shortfalls occur when there is a cap on a grant which is less than the approved indirect rate.
- Carry-forwards occur when the overall recovery from all funding sources deviates from the budgeted amount of recovery.
- Carry-forwards can be recovered in future years.
- Shortfalls will not be recovered. Shortfalls are not included in the calculation of carry-forwards.
- The deficit is both the shortfall and carry-forward if an under-recovery.

Certification

- The Tribe certifies the following in the proposal:
 - All costs are allowable in accordance with federal requirements.
 - Proposal does not include unallowable costs.
 - Any excluded costs pay for their own administrative costs.
 - All costs are properly allocable on the basis of a beneficial or casual relationship between expenses incurred and agreements to which allocated.
 - The same costs that have been treated as indirect costs have not been claimed as direct costs and similar types of costs have been accounted for consistently.

Interior Business Center

- Tribe submits the Indirect Cost Proposal to IBC for review.
- The IBC approves or disapproves of all costs in the pool.
- The Tribe must justify all expenses in the pool.
- The IBC issues an indirect cost agreement.

Dear VPSO Working Group,

The Northwest Arctic Borough School District (NWABSD) writes this letter in support of the Village Public Safety Officer Program. The NWABSD covers 38,000 square miles of the rural northwest coast of Alaska. Headquartered in Kotzebue, the District operates schools in eleven villages for approximately 1,850 students. Schools range in size from Deering with approximately 30 students and 4 teachers, to Kotzebue with 664 students and 54 teachers. All villages in the NWABSD are off the road system and have limited law enforcement resources.

The core tenant of the NWABSD is to provide a safe and healthy learning environment for its students and staff. The VPSO Program provides a vital resource for rural schools in achieving this constructive environment. VPSOs frequently serve as the first responders to student incidents, threats against schools, or weather emergencies that arise at times in the harsh Alaska climate. Unfortunately, the last decade has seen a dramatic decrease in funding for the VPSO program. Today, no VPSOs serve the District's villages. This absence makes our communities and schools less safe. All too frequently, students and staff must wait for law enforcement to fly in, hours or days after the initial call was made.

AS 14.03.015 sets forth Alaska's education policy. It states, "[T]he purpose of education is to help ensure that all students will succeed in their education and work, shape worthwhile and satisfying lives for themselves, exemplify the best values of society, and be effective in improving the character and quality of the world about them." Fundamental to a successful education is a safe learning environment. Students cannot learn if they do not feel safe and supported in their schools and in their homes. A robust VPSO program is integral to this mission in rural Alaska. The absence of VPSOs in NWABSD villages constitutes an abdication of the State's responsibility to provide a safe learning environment for its children.

Alaska thrives when its students thrive. The NWABSD fully supports this Working Group's stated goals of improving the VPSO program and placing additional officers in more communities. The District looks forward to working with the Legislature to explore ways in which we all can provide a safer learning environment for our students. Thank you for this opportunity to provide comment.

Sincerely,

Terri Walker
Superintendent, NWABSD

Alaska Municipal League
Resolution #2020-04

Expressing support for rural law enforcement efforts such as the VPO and VPSO program, while recognizing the need for increased investment and the potential for reform to ensure both public safety and the sustainability of law enforcement efforts in rural Alaska.

WHEREAS, local governments play an important role in delivering public safety in Alaska, with 70 local governments in Alaska having police powers; and

WHEREAS, the combined budgets of 40 municipal police departments amount to $75 million more than the entire budget of the State's Department of Public Safety; and

WHEREAS, public safety is a shared responsibility between the State and local governments; and

WHEREAS, public safety has been a priority of this administration, even as the nation's Attorney General has declared a public safety crisis in rural Alaska; and

WHEREAS, there exist important programs in the form of the Village Public Safety Officer (VPSO) and Village Police Officer (VPO), which perform essential public safety functions in communities without municipal law enforcement or a permanent State Trooper presence; and

WHEREAS, these programs face the same challenges as all law enforcement in Alaska, especially in terms of recruitment and retention of qualified officers; and

WHEREAS, vetting of VPOs is constrained by the capacity of local governments, even as recruitment of candidates is constrained by local options and by lack of visibility of potential candidates from across the state, among other reasons; and

WHEREAS, training opportunities for VPOs are limited and may be unaffordable for many local governments; and VPSO training costs have increased at the State Trooper academy; and

WHEREAS, the VPSO program has struggled to maintain full staffing, even as funding is reduced to reflect reduced numbers of VPSOs, and numerous challenges have been identified by program grantees and the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, multiple and intersecting challenges affect the efficacy of both the VPO and VPSO programs.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Alaska Municipal League supports rural law enforcement efforts such as the VPO and VPSO programs; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Alaska Municipal League recognizes the need to match spending to needs identified by both programs, and for any necessary reform to ensure both public safety and the sustainability of law enforcement efforts in rural Alaska.

PASSED AND APPROVED BY THE ALASKA MUNICIPAL LEAGUE ON THE 22nd DAY OF NOVEMBER 2019.

RE: Creation of Village Public Safety Officer working group

Date: May 9, 2019

This letter is to announce, as the Presiding Officers of the House and Senate, the creation of a Joint House/Senate Working Group (working group) for the purposes of providing substantive policy recommendations related to Alaska Village Public Safety Officers Program (VPSO) for submittal to the Alaska legislature no later than January 31, 2020.

Background

The VPSO program was created in the late 1970's to provide rural communities with critically needed public safety at the local level. The VPSO program today is plagued with high turnover and retention rates that are epidemic in proportion and leave many small communities in Alaska, challenged by long response distances, difficult weather and transportation challenges, without any law enforcement presence. As this document is being generated, the program has approximately 40 VPSO's in place serving over 150 remote communities.

Working Group

The working group, in coordination with all stakeholders, will be tasked with providing options for the legislature to consider to structurally revamp the VPSO program during the 2020 legislative session. The solutions will primarily address the core problem of increasing the number of Village Police Safety Officers available to communities. It will address other fundamental issues such as: inequity in pay, lack of housing, officer safety, low morale, and inability to generate more interest from applicants in rural Alaska, and the role of Alaska Native Tribes as a possible solution will be considered.

This working group will consist solely of members from the legislature including, three members each from the House and Senate, with one being from the minority caucus of each body. A member from each body shall be designated as a co-chair.

As such we are pleased to announce the following members as appointees to the 2019-2020 VPSO Working Group:

Senator Donny Olson, Co-Chair
Senator Click Bishop
Senator Mike Shower

Rep. Chuck Kopp, Co-Chair
Rep. Bryce Edgmon
Rep. George Rauscher
