02/06/2022 11:11:30 pm	Elisabeth Mering	liz.mering@gmail.com	99603		This bill has no impact on other hatcheries, ultimately this is not a hatchery issue this is a public lands issue and you are proposing essentially giving away these stunning lands. It also proposes that there will be no cost associated with this bill, that does not seem possibly true, What about the land management of the proposed new park land (not connected) or the transition? What would the hatchery pay for lease? Is it more or less? None of these questions have been answers. And as public land, all of these questions must be answered for the public - who own the land. Please do not give away this land under the fake flag of protecting our fish.

02/06/2022 4:40:46 am	Alison OHara	alaskaselkie@gmail.com	99603		The 123 acres of park land where the hatchery is will benefit more people than the very small amount of fisherman that benefit from the poorly managed hatchery. I worry about the wonton waste associated with the hatchery as I've seen hundreds of salmon not harvested floating around the bay. I know their carcasses end up getting trapped behind the moraine in Tutka and then cause anaerobic activity when they sink to the sea floor and destroy life there. Parks is in the process of buying the potential land to be "traded" for the hatchery property for that reason alone HB 52 doesn't make sense.

02/05/2022 9:07:10 pm	THERESE LEWANDOWSKI	thereselew@gmail.com	99603-9213		All the testimony I've read regarding a pink hatchery sounds like it needs to go, it's a waste. The AK State Park should never be cut up for anything. I worry something like this would open the door for other resource extraction cut-outs. I'd like to see the AK State Park become a National Park in hopes it would get more protection.
02/05/2022 8:58:59 pm	Kevin Walker	homerkev@gmail.com	99603	KBSP Citizens Advisory Board	Tutka Bay Hatchery has destroyed the pristine Tutka Bay Lagoon in an attempt to provide a commercial fish hatchery that has been proven to be unprofitalbe. You cant raise 100,000,000 pink salmon a year in this small bay without substantial water quality problems. If you could, it would probably be unprofitalbe to sell them, there are no pink salmon canneries in this area and the costs of production and harvest are greater than the value.

Not only is the hatchery a private business operated for a few people in violation of the Alaska constitution, but its focus on pink salmon has a detrimental effect on other fisheries, including the sockeyes that are our primary sport and commercial fish.

01/08/2022 12:24:14 am	Martha Krohn	smokybay@gmail.com	99603		This is a bad precedent to make for opening up a Pandora's Box with our park lands. Kachemak Bay State Park is visited by a lot of people every summer. It is a bad choice to alter this park area for the purposes of a business that is failing anyway, and doesn't provide the same benefits to the public as the park does.

01/07/2022 11:52:26 pm	Michael O'Meara	mikeo@horizonsatellite.com	99556		HB52 is a bad deal for Alaskans. Tutka Bay lagoon is not the right place for the hatchery for many reasons. Not the least is that there is growing evidence that flooding these waters with hatchery fish is detrimental to the ecosystem. Another is that the hatchery benefits a small minority of commercial fishermen at the expense of the majority. Finally, taking bites out of KBSP for every commercial interest that comes along is a fine way to destroy this valuable public resource.

The lagoon is being killed by the hatchery because it is operated for profit over science. Sarah Vance is spreading misinformation and should be publicly corrected. The fate of the hatchery is not linked to the subsistence dipnetting in China Poot.

I think the state park was deemed such for a reason and it would be negating the purpose of the designation to remove an area from the state park so that a single business can continue operating. One which doesn't much benefit the people or the ecosystem of the surrounding area.

Especially for the sake of a failing private group that has little to no benefit to the folks in my community and state.
