Subject: FW: Regulations Cost on Fiscal Notes

Tim, Jeff,

I thought it might be important to have a high level answer for Rep. Vance's question about the $6,000 figure on the fiscal note.

I spoke with Lacey Sanders on Friday and she provided the response below. The same is true for SB71 and it's the minimum cost based on DEED's experience with regulation changes.

Thank you,
Andrea

Thank you for your patience. Staff is teleworking and responses may take longer than usual.

The Alaska State Council on the Arts (ASCA) represents, supports and advances the creative endeavors of individuals, organizations and agencies throughout Alaska.

ASCA is a public corporation housed in the Alaska Department of Education and Early Development, and is governed by eleven trustees appointed by the Governor. ASCA is supported with general funds appropriated by the Alaska State Legislature and partnership funds through the National Endowment for the Arts, with additional support for arts education programs from Rasmuson Foundation.

Subject: Regulations Cost on Fiscal Notes

Good morning Andrea,

The Department of Education & Early Development's (DEED's) standard cost for all fiscal notes that require any regulations work is a one-time increment of $6,000. The regulations process involves Department of Law working on behalf of DEED to prepare the necessary legal regulation changes to go before the State Board of Education & Early Development or the Alaska State Council on the Arts. There over 70 education related bills currently introduced that impact DEED. If multiple bills pass through the legislature and require regulations changes, this would result in thousands of dollars of required legal work with no associated funding in budget.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Lacey Sanders
