FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2022 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB 230

Analysis

DMLW calculates that this legislation causes an annual gain of $1,135 in permit fees.

The proposed legislation prohibits the division from charging any additional land use fees for the use of a trapping cabin. The division does not currently charge land use fees for the use of trapping cabins; this portion of the legislation has no impact.

The department currently charges $240 for an annual trapping cabin authorization issued under AS 38.95.075. This fee is set at 11 AAC 05.180(d)(A)(i) at $300 and reduced by 20% through Director's Order 3.

For authorizations issued under AS 38.95.080 the fee is set at $10 under AS 38.95.080(c)(5). On average the department issues one authorization under AS 38.95.075 annually. The division issues on average nine permits per year under AS 38.95.080 and collects all annual fees for the ten-year permit at once.

Therefore, annual permit fee revenue is as follows: $240 + ($10 \times 9 \text{ authorizations} \times \text{collecting 10 years of fees in advance}) = $1,140$.

Under proposed legislation, the annual authorization fee for AS 38.95.075 and AS 38.95.080 are both revised to $25 annually. Using the same calculation as above with the new fee results in an annual revenue of $2,275: $$25 + ($25 \times 9 \text{ authorizations} \times \text{collecting 10 years of fees in advance}) = $2,275$.

The Division would not necessarily collect fees in advance under the new fees, but calculated revenue consistently for purposes of evaluation impact.
