

HB 120

Testimony Packet

House Resources Committee

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Leland Schlatter
1624 2nd street
Douglas, AK 99824-5211

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

George Geiges
ggeiges@gmail.com
Eagle River, AK 99577

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Alfred DeCicco
1171 Albro Gregory Lane
Fairbanks, AK 99712-2100

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Jerry Herrod
5106 Lionheart Dr
Anchorage, AK 99508-2529

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Deirdre Coval
197 E Redoubt Ave
Soldotna, AK 99669-8055

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Elic Kirby
12175 Glacier Hwy, Apt A201
Juneau, AK 99801-8648

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Elic Kirby
12175 Glacier Hwy, Apt A201
Juneau, AK 99801-8648

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Scott Johnson
Mile 224 George Parks Highway
Denali Park, AK 99755

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Taylor Gustafson
Lot 5 moonlight acres, Murphy dome RD

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Dalton Pigman
18566 Mills Bay Drive
Eagle River, AK 99577-8562

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Randy Saldivar
15210 Evergreen Ridge St
Anchorage, AK 99516-4912

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Jack Brothers
2140 Banbury Dr
Anchorage, AK 99504-3358

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Francis Adams
2125 Yankovich Road
Fairbanks, AK 99709-6507

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Jim Cook
4002 E Serendipity Loop, Wasilla, Alaska Wasilla, AK 99654-2832

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Stephen Springer
4975 Kathys Lane
Fairbanks, AK 99709-2090

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Don Hunley
6051 Barry Ave
Anchorage, AK 99507-6665

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Frank Maxwell
3190 Gabes Way
Fairbanks, AK 99712-3350

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Tim Hammond
6400 Baseline
Fairbanks, AK 99712-3644

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

K. Murphy
Amalga Harbor
Juneau, AK 99801

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Kevin Fraley
101 Roxie Road
Fairbanks, AK 99709-2328

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Zach LaPerriere
2212 Sawmill Creek Road
Sitka, AK 99835-9770

---

House Bill 120 would repeal the establishment of recreational rivers and river corridors in the Susitna River basin, the portion of this bill requesting repeal of the recreation rivers and their corridors should be struck. These rivers are incredibly important to Alaskans and their designation reflects that importance. The rivers provide incredible access to hunting, fishing, trapping, and other outdoor opportunities on vast amounts of state land that is used by a significant number of Alaskans year round. The river designations help protect the outdoor traditions that Alaskans highly value. We urge you, as a member of the House Resource Committee, to maintain the designation of Alaska's recreational rivers and the unique opportunities they provide us with.

Sincerely,

Matt White
1314.3 Alaska Hwy
Tok, AK 99780-9800