Supporting the 2007 National Crime Victims' Rights Week.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ALASKA:

WHEREAS, in Alaska, there are currently thousands of crime victims and survivors whose physical, financial, emotional, and spiritual needs are entitled to the attention and support of the individuals and communities across Alaska; and

WHEREAS the collaborative efforts of criminal justice professionals, juvenile justice professionals, crime victim service providers, public policy makers, volunteers, and the state's Office of Victims' Rights have helped to increase public safety and the awareness of the existence and needs of crime victims and survivors in communities throughout Alaska; and

WHEREAS, in 1994, Alaska voters expressed their strong support for crime victims' rights by approving art. I, sec. 24 of the Constitution of the State of Alaska, which identified the rights of crime victims; and

WHEREAS the theme of the 2007 National Crime Victims' Rights Week is Victims' Rights: Every Victim, Every Time, and this theme recognizes that all victims and survivors of crime have rights and deserve access to victims' and survivors' services; and

recognizes the ongoing efforts of countless providers of victims' and survivors' services, criminal justice professionals, and volunteers who selflessly dedicate their lives to helping victims and survivors of crime to exercise their rights and receive important services; and

WHEREAS the 2007 National Crime Victims' Rights Week will be observed April 22 through April 28, and will be dedicated to recognizing the rights of crime victims and survivors and their need for services;

BE IT RESOLVED that the Alaska State Legislature supports the 2007 National Crime Victims' Rights Week to be observed April 22 through April 28 to increase public awareness of the rights, needs, and concerns of crime victims and survivors in Alaska.
