

HOUSE JOURNAL
ALASKA STATE LEGISLATURE
TWENTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE

Juneau, Alaska

Wednesday

February 21, 2007

Thirty-seventh Day

Pursuant to adjournment the House was called to order by Speaker Harris at 10:04 a.m.

Roll call showed 39 members present. Representative Seaton had been excused from a call of the House today.

The invocation was offered by the Chaplain, Major Joe Huttenlocker of The Salvation Army. Representative Dahlstrom moved and asked unanimous consent that the invocation be spread on the journal. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

The proverb for you today is: Discretion will protect you and understanding will guard you.

May our thoughts, O God, be not upon things of the past but upon what brings hope of a better future for the people of this great state of Alaska and our nation. May these legislators serve better today. May they give wholeheartedly to the tasks that lay before them - mindful of the trust that has been cast upon them by the people. Though they serve with human hands, may you give them knowledge and wisdom that thinks outside the box and will push them to make the hard decisions that will provide for a future that all citizens of this state may be proud to benefit from. In your name I ask these things, O God. May it be so. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Representative Roses.

CERTIFICATION OF THE JOURNAL

Representative Samuels moved and asked unanimous consent that the journal for the 35th and 36th legislative days be approved as certified by the Chief Clerk. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING, AND REFERENCE OF HOUSE BILLS*HB 146

HOUSE BILL NO. 146 by Representatives Coghill, Gruenberg, and Ramras, entitled:

"An Act requiring certain businesses to recognize postmark dates as the date of payment."

was read the first time and referred to the Labor & Commerce and Judiciary Committees.

HB 147

HOUSE BILL NO. 147 by Representative Harris by request, entitled:

"An Act relating to matching funds in state tourism marketing contracts with trade associations."

was read the first time and referred to the House Special Committee on Economic Development, Trade, & Tourism and the Finance Committee.

HB 148

HOUSE BILL NO. 148 by the House Rules Committee by request of the Governor, entitled:

"An Act relating to the senior care program; and providing for an effective date."

was read the first time and referred to the Health, Education & Social Services and Finance Committees.

The following fiscal note(s) apply:

1. Fiscal, Dept. of Health & Social Services

The Governor's transmittal letter dated February 20, 2007, follows:

"Dear Speaker Harris:

Under the authority of art. III, sec. 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to the senior care program.

The bill would extend the sunset date of the existing senior care program from June 30, 2007, to June 30, 2012, to allow continuation of program benefits to needy seniors.

This bill also would make two changes to the eligibility requirements for the program. First, the income limitation would be altered. The current income standards are "frozen" by setting eligibility at a specific monetary amount in state law that was equal to 135 percent of the 2005 federal poverty income guidelines. The 2005 limits have caused some seniors to become ineligible for the program because of cost-of-living adjustments that are made to retirement and pension income, such as Social Security benefits, which are not automatically adjusted under the current statutory language. The change made by the bill would result in income standards that are flexible enough to correspond to changing federal poverty guidelines. Second, the bill would provide that an individual who is receiving a longevity bonus payment would not be eligible for benefits under the senior care program. It is my intent to see the longevity bonus program reinstated in the Fiscal Year 2008 budget for those qualifying seniors who were prematurely cut from the program in the Fiscal Year 2004 budget. However, seniors who qualify for the longevity bonus will have to decide whether to obtain assistance from one or the other program.

The Department of Health and Social Services has found that there is only low-level usage of the prescription drug option, despite extensive outreach efforts encouraging seniors to enroll. Additionally, survey information indicates that many seniors have other health insurance coverage available. Because of these factors, the bill also would eliminate the prescription drug benefit portion of the program.

The senior care program finances important benefits for needy older Alaskans, to help them meet basic necessities, including food and housing. I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,

/s/

Sarah Palin
Governor"

HB 149

HOUSE BILL NO. 149 by the House Rules Committee by request of the Governor, entitled:

"An Act relating to the authority of the Department of Environmental Conservation to require certain monitoring, sampling, and reporting and to require permits for certain discharges of pollutants; relating to criminal penalties for violations of the permit program; and providing for an effective date."

was read the first time and referred to the Resources and Judiciary Committees.

The following fiscal note(s) apply:

1. Zero, Dept. of Environmental Conservation

The Governor's transmittal letter dated February 20, 2007, follows:

"Dear Speaker Harris:

Under the authority of art. III, sec. 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to the authority of the Department of Environmental Conservation (department) to require certain monitoring, sampling, and reporting and to require permits for certain discharges of pollutants, and to criminal penalties for violations of the permit program.

Under the federal Clean Water Act, discharges of pollutants to surface waters require a permit either from the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), or from a state that has received approval from the EPA to administer the permitting program. Alaska has applied to the EPA for approval of a state permitting program, and the EPA is currently reviewing Alaska's application. Under federal law, the EPA cannot approve a state program unless it is as stringent as the EPA's program. This bill would revise certain provisions of law governing the department's permitting and enforcement authority, in order to align the state's permit requirements with the EPA's. The changes are all designed to help facilitate final approval by the EPA of Alaska's program.

Three of the proposed changes would involve current exclusions from the requirement of getting a discharge permit. The first exclusion is for sewage. Current state law provides that the discharge of sewage into a "sewerage system" does not need a permit. Federal law exempts only discharges of sewage into "publicly owned treatment works." The difference is that the federal exemption is for sewage going to a place where it will receive treatment; while the state exemption is broader and needs to be amended in order to reflect a treatment requirement. The solution offered by this bill would be simply to change the state exemption so that it matches the EPA's: only sewage discharged to a publicly owned treatment works would be exempt from the permit requirement.

The second exclusion would be for discharges that are incidental to certain drilling and trenching activities. Current state law exempts those discharges from the permit requirement if they don't result in a discharge "directly into any surface water." To align state law with the federal permit program, that phrase would be changed by deleting the word "directly" and changing "surface water" to "waters of the United States," a term defined identically in state and federal regulations.

The third and final exclusion is for the discharge of munitions on active ranges. The federal definition of "pollutant" at 40 C.F.R. 122.2 includes munitions, so a permit is required for their discharge to waters of the United States. Yet state law exempts the discharge of munitions from the permit requirement. This bill would limit the state's munitions exemption to discharges that do not enter waters of the United States, again to bring state law into line with federal law.

The bill includes three other provisions. One would give the department the authority to require site sampling and reporting of results analogous to what the EPA exercises under sec. 308 of the Clean Water Act. Another clarifies that the department's permitting authority extends to all "pollutants" listed under federal law. The third provision also follows federal law (33 U.S.C. 1319(c)) by allowing the department to pursue criminal enforcement for negligent violations of any aspect of the state permit program.

This bill is an essential component of the state's effort to receive primacy from the EPA in the permitting of discharges in our state. I support continuing forward with efforts to receive primacy, and I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,

/s/

Sarah Palin
Governor"

HB 150
