

HOUSE JOURNAL
ALASKA STATE LEGISLATURE
THIRTY-THIRD LEGISLATURE
SECOND SESSION

Juneau, Alaska

Wednesday

April 24, 2024

One Hundredth Day

Pursuant to adjournment the House was called to order by Speaker Tilton at 10:54 a.m.

Roll call showed 39 members present. Representative Foster had been excused from a call of the House today.

The invocation was offered by the Chaplain, Kirk Thorsteinson of Alaska Army National Guard. Representative Vance moved and asked unanimous consent that the invocation be spread on the journal. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

It's good to be back! And right here, right now. There is no other place I want to be. Friends, Americans, Alaskans, lend me your ears for this invocation. Let us pray:

Loving Law Giver, I invite your presence with us on the 68th anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution of our amazing State of Alaska by the amazing people of Alaska! Help us to reflect upon this governing document, and learn it, know it, live it.

True Vine, it is said, "The one who plants trees, knowing that he will never sit in their shade, has at least started to understand the meaning of life." Alaska is honored to have been selected to provide the 2024 U.S. Capitol Christmas tree. An annual symbol of hope and celebration, this year, "The People's Tree" will come from the Tongass National Forest!

Branch of Righteousness, just as roots from trees in America's largest national forest grow laterally and intertwine, help us to intentionally begin new relationships, maintain current ones, and restore old ones as healthy and appropriate. So that when the wind of adversity and wind of change come, we will see that "A cord of three strands is not quickly torn apart."

Please take us this day to the magic of the moment and help us dream dreams that honor you, each other, and Alaska. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Representative McCormick.

CERTIFICATION OF THE JOURNAL

Representative Saddler moved and asked unanimous consent that the journal for the 98th and 99th legislative days be approved as certified by the Chief Clerk. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

SENSE OF THE HOUSE

The following Sense of the House was offered by Representative C. Johnson:

"WHEREAS in the early days of the correspondence program, local public schools would use the post office or float planes to send lessons and tests to students in the rural reaches of the state, and then pick the assignments up to grade them;

WHEREAS in 1997, lawmakers expanded the program to allow parents to receive reimbursement for certain education supplies. In 2014, the law was broadened even further to allow correspondence schools to reimburse parents who choose a variety of alternative education options;

WHEREAS Alaska a sparsely populated state, we face some unique challenges in ensuring all students receive a quality education, and the correspondence school program was created to address these issues. Since its creation, thousands of Alaska students have benefitted from the program;

WHEREAS since the passage of legislation in 2014, roughly 10% of Alaska school enrollment has shifted from school buildings to correspondence programs, with the pace of the shift accelerating over the past four years;

WHEREAS correspondence programs allow students across Alaska to be home-schooled under the authority of local school districts. For the past decade, state law has allowed families to utilize funds for education-related expenses;

WHEREAS on April 12, 2024, Alaska Superior Court Judge Adolf Zeman ruled that the allotment system violates a section of the state constitution that prohibits public money being spent "for the direct benefit of any religious or other private educational institution.";

WHEREAS the 33-page decision if allowed to go into effect could potentially have major implications for the nearly 20,000 correspondence school students in Alaska and the state's public education system more broadly;

WHEREAS the full implications of that decision remains unclear, many believe that if this ruling were to stand, there would be no public correspondence school options in Alaska, and families currently in correspondence school would be forced to pay for what is otherwise public schooling out of their own pockets;

WHEREAS the plaintiffs plan to seek a stay, putting the ruling on hold, until the end of the fiscal year in June in order not to disrupt the school year and allow time for an expedited appeal to the Alaska Supreme Court. The state also plans to appeal, according to the Governor in a social media post;

AND WHEREAS the Alaska Department of Education and Early Development is advising state school districts to continue business as usual after a legal decision struck down the core of the state's correspondence school programs until a final decision from the courts is handed down;

BE IT RESOLVED that it's a Sense of the House that this body file an amicus brief supporting a stay of the decision in Alexander v. Teshner, (3AN-23-04309CI), at the Alaska Supreme Court until June 30, 2025, in order to give the Alaska State Legislature sufficient time following any final court decision to pass appropriate legislation complying with the Supreme Court's decision, if that becomes necessary;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a stay of the Superior Court's decision provides the most stability to Alaska's public education system and protects the tens of thousands of students, families, and educational vendors that are integral to the public correspondence school option;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this is clearly recognized by all sides of the litigation, as even the plaintiffs that brought the case believe a stay of some length is warranted;

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a stay through June 30, 2025, allows for the Alaska State Legislature to review any decision from the Alaska Supreme Court and take a measured approach to amending the public correspondence school program."

Representative C. Johnson moved and asked unanimous consent that the Sense of the House be adopted.

Representative Josephson objected.
