FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2026 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. HB384

Analysis

This bill proposes to amend the definition of “victim counseling center” in Alaska Statute 18.66.250 to clarify which entities qualify for confidentiality protections related to communications with victims of sexual assault or domestic violence. The bill expands the definition to include certain local or tribal government agencies that provide direct victim services, while maintaining existing requirements that the entity’s primary purpose is to serves victims and that it is not affiliated with law enforcement or a prosecutor’s office. The bill also includes a retroactive applicability clause, applying the amended definition to communications made before, on, or after the effective date.

The Department of Public Safety, through the Division of Victim Assistance and Forensic Science, works closely with a broad network of victim service providers, including tribal and nonprofit organizations. This legislation provides clarification identifying which organizations may claim confidentiality protections but does not create new programs, expand existing services, or impose additional responsibilities on the department. While the clarification may support improved coordination and reenforce trust between victims and service providers, it does not generate measurable workload changes for the department or require additional resources.

The department does not anticipate an increase in workload, staffing, or operating costs as a result of this legislation. Any potential cases arising under the new statute can be absorbed within existing resources. There is no fiscal impact anticipated to the Department of Public Safety.
