 GOVERNOR

 LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Governor Hammond's Plan (1980)

"In 1980, the state legislature enacted the Permanent Fund dividend program (ch. 21 SLA 1980, hereinafter "the 1980 Act") to distribute annually a portion of the Permanent Fund's earnings directly to the state's adult residents. Under the 1980 Act, each Alaska resident 18 years of age or older would receive one dividend per each year of residency since 1959, the year of statehood. The dividends would be paid yearly, starting with a value of $50 per dividend in 1979. The initial payment to long-term residents would be $1,050 each, while a new resident, having lived only one month of 1979 in Alaska, would receive $4 (1/12th of the $50 dividend for 1979)."

Alaskans have overwhelmingly said no to holding a constitutional convention.

Voters opposed the convention by more than 2-1, according to election results. About 70% of voters said no to a convention while about 30% said yes. The Division of Elections will be tallying absentee and overseas ballots for several more days before results are expected to be certified on Nov. 29.
