

Senate Bill (SB) 69

Sexual Assault Examination Kit Tracking System

Commissioner James Cockrell

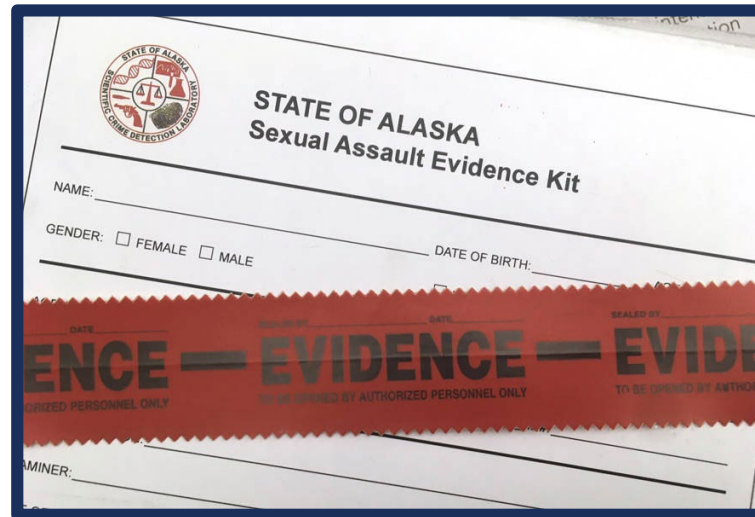

David Kanaris, Chief, Forensic Laboratory

February 3, 2025

Key Provisions

- Timelines for transmittal and testing of Sexual Assault Kits
- Codifying the Sexual Assault Kit Tracking System
- Survivor Rights and Transparency

The image shows a form for the State of Alaska Sexual Assault Evidence Kit. The form is white with a red header band. The header band contains the text "EVIDENCE — EVIDENCE — EVIDENCE" in large, bold, black letters. Below the header band, the form includes fields for "NAME:", "GENDER: ☐ FEMALE ☐ MALE", and "DATE OF BIRTH:". The form also features the State of Alaska seal and the text "STATE OF ALASKA Sexual Assault Evidence Kit". At the bottom, there is a section for "EXAMINER:" with a line for a signature.

Time Processing of Kits

- Medical providers must notify law enforcement within 14 days after evidence collection
 - New Requirement
- Law enforcement must transfer kits to an accredited laboratory within 20 days
 - Currently 30 days
- Laboratory must complete testing within 120 days
 - Currently 180 days

Survivor Rights and Transparency

- Survivors must be notified when their kits are tested
- The tracking system enables survivors to stay informed and connected to their case without compromising their privacy or needing to re-engage with law enforcement
- The system ensures survivors can securely monitor the status of their kits and opt-in for automated updates

Codification of the Sexual Assault Kit Tracking System

- Sexual assault examination kit tracking system will be operated by the Department of Public Safety
- Data remains confidential to protect survivor privacy

Thank You

Commissioner James Cockrell

Alaska Department of Public Safety

DPS.Commissioner.Office@Alaska.gov | o: 907-269-4542

David Kanaris, Chief, Forensic Laboratory

Alaska Department of Public Safety

David.Kanaris@Alaska.gov | o: 907-269-5621

Laurel Shoop, Legislative Liaison

Alaska Department of Public Safety

Laurel.Shoop@Alaska.gov | o: 907-269-5618

Department of Public Safety