House Bill 136: Use of Railroad Easements Summary of Changes - Version G to Version T

The House Transportation adopted the following changes:

- In Section 3 of the bill, the final lines (page 2 line 9-11) previously stated that the Alaska Railroad corporation shall allow property owners to use their land “in a manner that does not unreasonably interfere with the corporation’s use of the property for the purpose of the easement.” The Committee removed the phrase “for the purpose of the easement” in an effort to avoid delineating the functions of the easement.
- In Section 3 of the bill, the Committee added the new subsection (b), which requires that any crossing fees charges to landowners within the railroad easement must be revenue-neutral.
