

TBI in Alaska, 1995-2005 Hospitalization greater than 24 hours

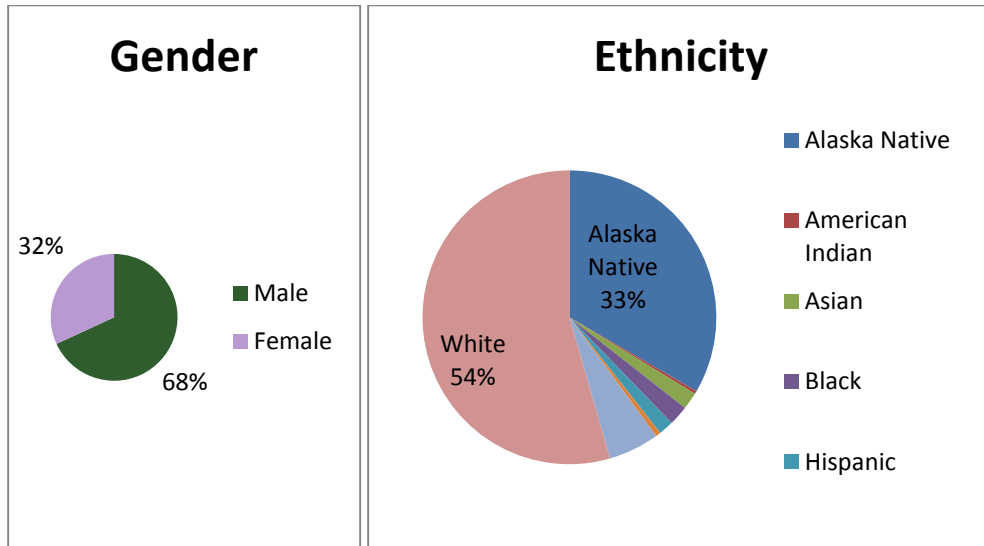

Figure 1: Males sustain TBI at twice the rate of females

Figure 2: TBI's are sustained primarily by White and Alaska Native populations

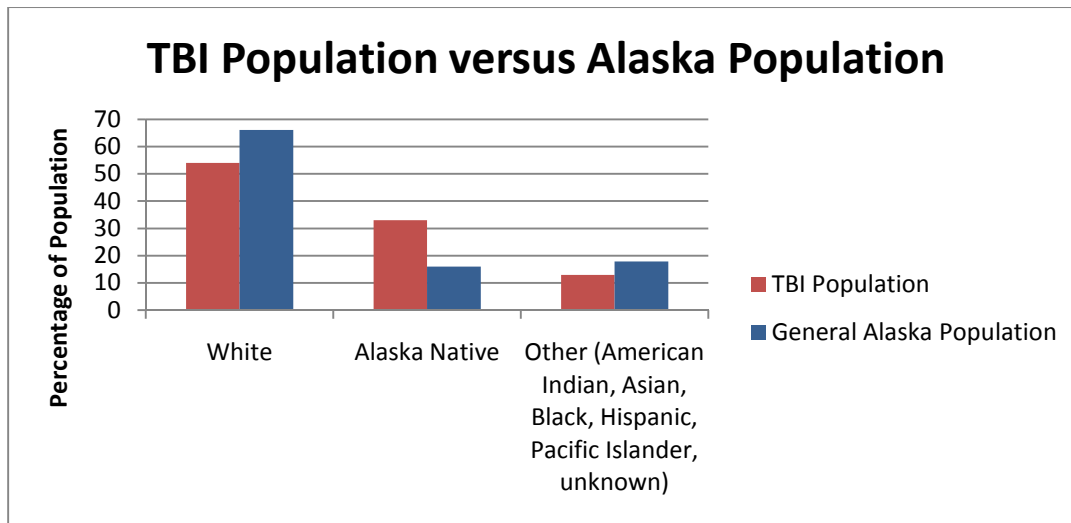

Figure 3: Alaskan Natives and rural residents sustain TBI at disproportionate rates compared to census data

TBI in Alaska, 1995-2005 Hospitalization greater than 24 hours

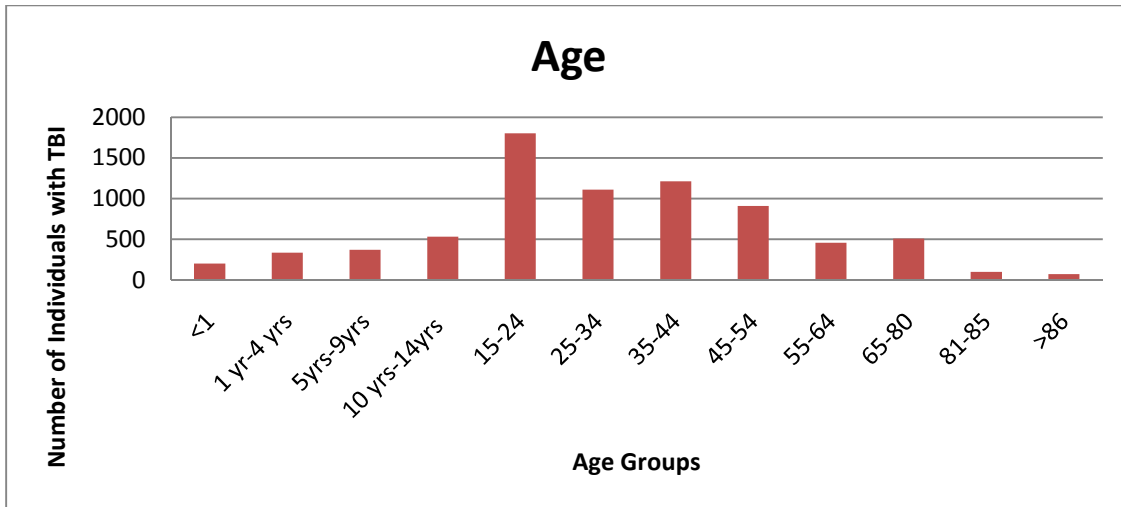

Figure 4: Highest incidence rates are among 15-24 year old males. The highest prevalence rates are among Elders who fall.

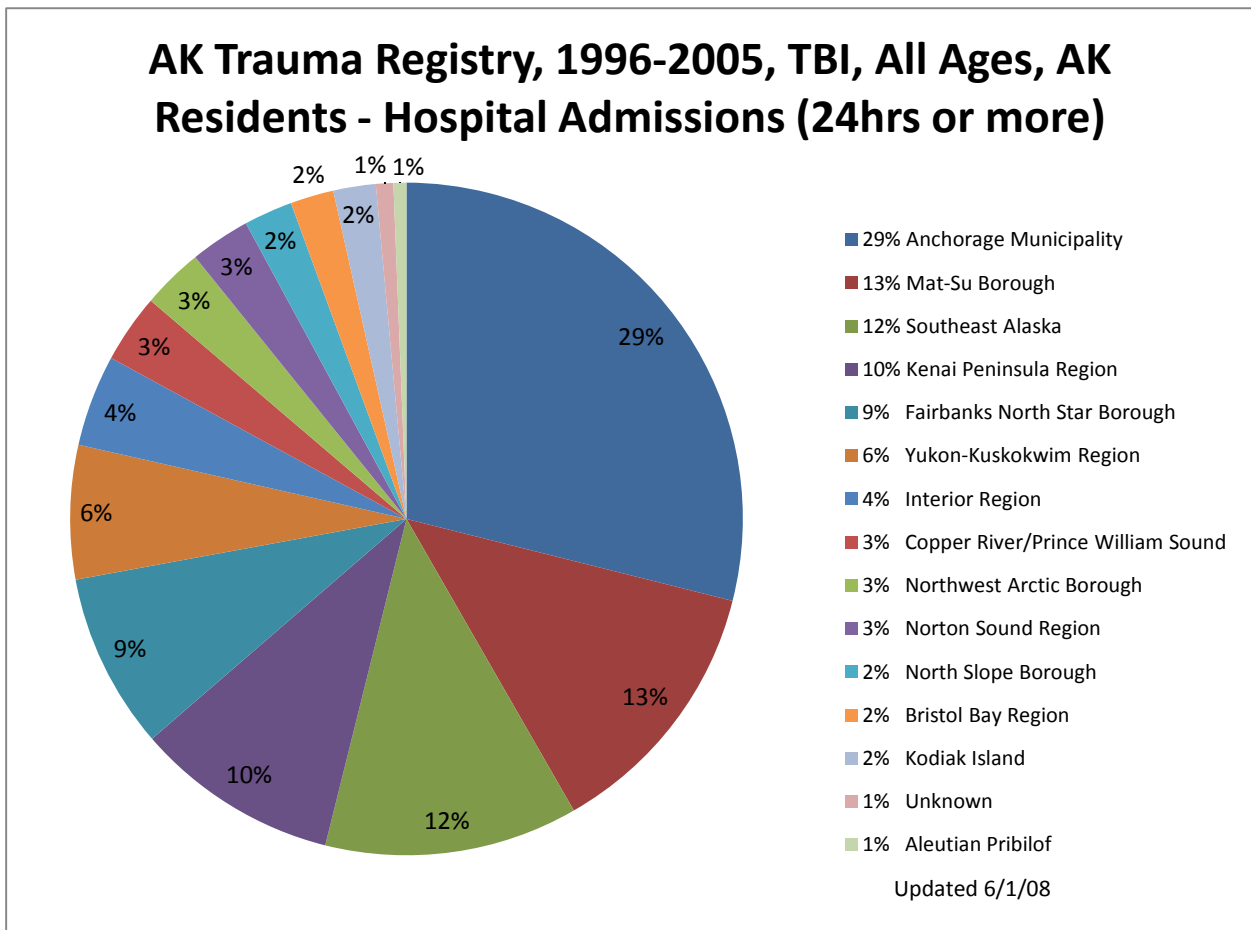

Figure 5: Highest incidence rates are among Anchorage, Mat-Su, and Southeast regions. The highest prevalence rates are in the Yukon-Kuskokwim Region.

TBI in Alaska, 1995-2005 Hospitalization greater than 24 hours

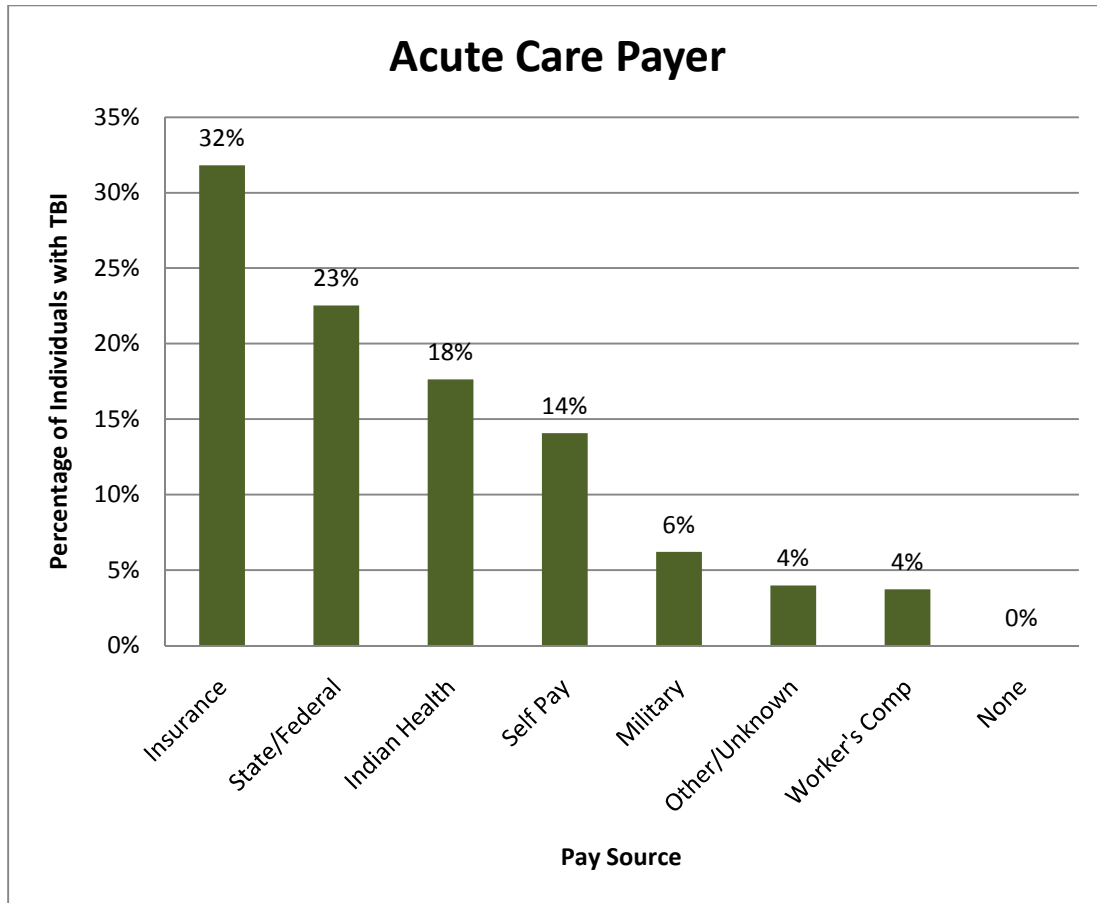

Figure 6: Acute care costs are paid by major payers. Inpatient and post-acute rehabilitation is limited. There is not a post-acute rehabilitation facility in-state.

TBI in Alaska, 1995-2005 Hospitalization greater than 24 hours

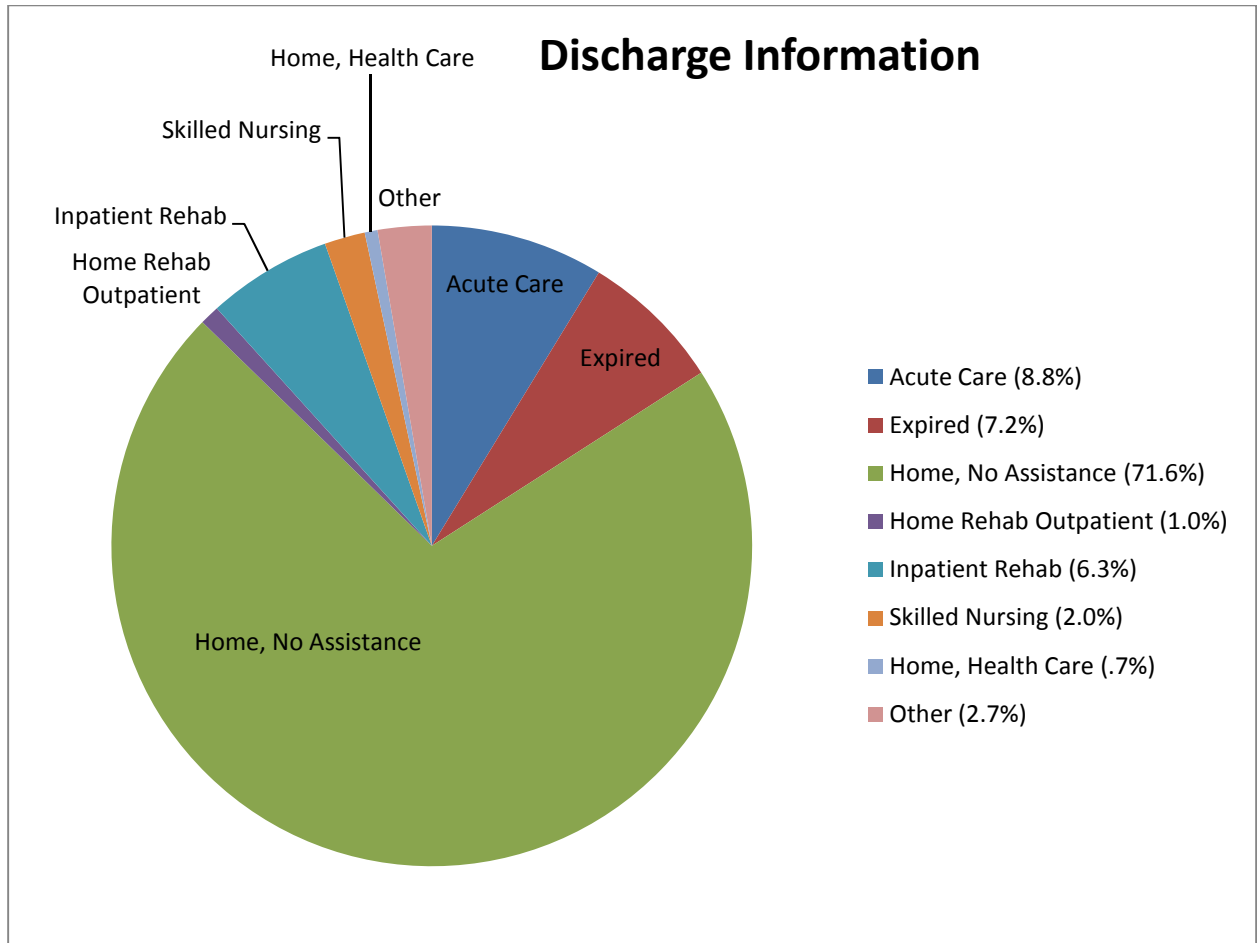

Figure 7: 72% of TBI survivors are sent home with no assistance. 1% of TBI survivors have access to rehab once they return home.