BILL NO. HB171 \B

Analysis

HB 171 allows law enforcement officers to arrest persons with probable cause but without an arrest warrant for offenses against a person occurring outside their presence that are misdemeanors. For most misdemeanors, law enforcement must obtain an arrest warrant if the offense occurred outside their presence or summons the person to court. More debatable cases will proceed to court without being screened out by the court through the warrant process or by the DA through the summons process.

Thus, the fiscal impact is indeterminate to Department of Law.
