

Lee White Posey is a Federal Affairs Counsel working with the Education Committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL). She conducts NCSL lobbying activities on education issues, representing state positions and concerns to Congress and the Administration. Lee has been at NCSL since 1999. Her NCSL experience includes four years as Committee Director for the Human Services and Welfare Committee and the Agriculture and Energy Committee, covering wide variety of issues including TANF, federal child care grants, child welfare, child support, food and nutrition programs, agriculture, and rural development. She helped staff NCSL's Executive Committee Task Force on Welfare Reform Reauthorization (2001-2005), and staffed NCSL's Farm Bill Working Group for the 2008 Farm Bill reauthorization.

Before coming to NCSL, Lee was a Policy Analyst for the Georgia Senate, focusing on education and early childhood issues. In that position, she staffed the standing Senate Education Committee and various interim education study committees and commissions. She also worked for the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget's Educational Development Division while in Georgia, performing research on education issues, analyzing budget requests from education agencies, assisting education agencies in implementing programs and policies, and analyzing state and federal legislation affecting education.

She holds a Masters degree in Political Science from Georgia State University and a Bachelors degree in English from Davidson College. Lee is published poet and children's book author.
