Takeaway

- Alaskan views are in strong alignment with the priorities of the American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network.
  - Across all measures that can be tracked, opinions have become even more favorable.
- A large majority of Alaskans (69%) support a statewide smoke-free workplace law.
  - Support is strong and consistent across all demographic subgroups, including location, age and political party. Even a slight majority of smokers (51%) support the law.
  - Similarly large percentages support including e-cigarettes (72%) and marijuana (79%) in a smoke-free workplace law.
- Thirty-nine percent (39%) of Alaskans say they would be more likely to vote for a candidate who supports a smoke-free workplace law. Fully four-out-of-five Alaskans (80%) say a candidates' support for the law would have a positive or neutral impact on their vote.
- The percentage of Alaskans who report smoking and exposure to second-hand smoke as a serious or moderate health hazard is near absolute (94% and 88%, respectively), and perceived risk has increased slightly since the last measurement.
  - A large majority also view the smoking and second-hand exposure of e-cigarettes and marijuana as a serious or moderate health hazard.
