Re: Pre-participation physical exams for athletes

Dear Ms. Ryan,

The doctor of chiropractic program at the University of Western States fully prepares students and interns for portal of entry status in the health care field including physical diagnoses, orthopedic, neurological diagnosis and sports medicine specific diagnosis. In fact, in these areas our students will have experienced more hours than typical medical, nursing, physician assistant, or athletic training students, rendering them fully capable of performing complete, or athlete specific physical examination.

Should you have further questions regarding the training of chiropractic physicians at UWS, feel free to contact me anytime.

Yours truly,

Marion Willard Evans, DC, PhD, MCHES
