I am typing this with one hand as I hold and nurse my infant. I am not able to show up tonite at our local LIO speaking up about how dramatic it would be for you to cut off our funding to public radio. we are on an island- this is all we have. really.

i have sat here in this chair with my baby and listened to what is going on in our world. there is no other way for me to get news, story, or entertainment, etc.

when we lived in a hike in cabin, no electricity, this was really all we had. our battery powered radio and our one and only channel.

excuse the spelling, lack of spaces, and no capitalizations. Holding my baby while napping is most important; second is our islands public radio. no exration here.

thank you,
