Reduction of Permanent Fund Dividends: Effect on Total Payments

Chuck Burnham, Research Manager

You asked us to estimate the total fiscal impact on Alaska communities if the 2015 Permanent Fund dividend was reduced. Specifically, you asked that we calculate the loss of funds to local economies if the dividend had been reduced by specified amounts between $250 and $1,500, as well as the loss stemming from capping the dividend amount to between $500 and $1,500.

The attached table provides estimates of the number of recipients of the $2,072 Permanent Fund dividend in 2015 by Alaska community.¹ We use those data to calculate the reduction in funds to local economies if the dividend had been reduced by $250, $500, $750, $1,000, and $1,500. The table also shows the impact of capping the amount of the 2015 dividend at $500, $1,000, and $1,500.

We hope this is helpful. If you have questions or need additional information, please let us know.

¹ This information is from the Permanent Fund Dividend Division's 2015 Annual Report, Appendix B, "Applicant Mailing Address Detail." The entire report can be accessed at <https://pfd.alaska.gov/LinkClick.aspx?fileticket=8tHYnc6AWhs%3d&tabid=506&portalid=6&mid=6428>. To the extent that dividends that were initially denied are reinstated through the appeals process, these numbers may change slightly in the future.
