- All State Debt must be structured and authorized by the State Bond Committee
 - Includes general obligation bonds, subject to appropriation issues, & state revenue bonds
- The State Bond Committee determines method and timing of debt issues to best utilize the state's credit and debt capacity while meeting the authorized projects cash flow needs
- The State has established other debt obligations
 - Reimbursement Programs
 - The School Debt Reimbursement Program or HB 528 reimbursement
 - Not currently authorized for new debt and periodically partially funded (most recently 2017 and 2020)

 - Annual payments on the UAAL of other employers is reflected as State debt in the CAFR
 - Some flexibility in how payments are made

General Obligation bonds Current Financings

G.O. bonds outstanding gradually decline through FY 2038

Recent Activity:

- To date, $342.8 million of the State's 2012 GO bond authorization ($453.2 million) has been funded.
- Net debt service of $77.8 million in fiscal year 2020 declining to final payment of $12.2 million in fiscal year 2038.

*Source: State of Alaska, Department of Revenue, does not include BAN issue or any additional future issuances, all dates assume fiscal year basis. G.O. bonded debt service is shown net of BAB and QSCB subsidy

Current General Fund Annual Payment Obligation

- GF Payment peaked in 2018 at $225.2 million
- Declining payment in every year (50% of peak in 2029)
- PERS/TRS special funding payments grow, but less dramatically
- PERS/TRS special funding is many times all other state commitments
- Existing Authorizations for $300 million for Knik Arm Crossing, $110 million GO bonds, $1.5 billion POB Corporation, $1 billion Tax Credit bonds

Existing State Short Term Debt Obligation Alternatives

- Bond Anticipation Notes (AS 37.15.300-390)
 - May be used when long term debt is authorized by law
 - While short term, it is expected to be a precursor of long term debt
 - May be used to avoid negative carry in construction funds, better match long-lived projects and their financing, or as an additional budget management tool
 - Directly impacts long term debt affordability
- Revenue Anticipation Notes (AS 43.08.010)
 - May borrow money when it becomes necessary in order to meet appropriations for any fiscal year in anticipation of the collection of the revenues for that year
 - All notes and interest thereon shall be paid from revenue by the end of the fiscal year next succeeding the year in which the notes were issued
 - May be tax-exempt if a bona fide revenue deficit occurs during the fiscal year
 - Earnings of the Permanent Fund and other available fund earnings, will need to be included in determining if a revenue deficit occurs
 - The State has not used since the late 1960's

2. State Debt Capacity

Debt Affordability Analysis

- Annual analysis required by AS 37.07.045 to be delivered by January 31
- Discusses credit ratings, current debt levels, history and projections
- Relies upon debt ratios, limit of 4% for directly paid state debt, and 7% when combined with municipal debt that the state supports
 - Beginning in FY 2019 UGF revenue increased significantly due to reclassification of certain Permanent Fund earnings. Uncertainty about this revenue in future years warranted reductions of 1% to debt ratios.
- Identifies currently authorized, but unissued debt
- Establishes refinancing parameters
- Determines a long term debt capacity at current rating level
- Discusses, but doesn't define a capacity for short term debt

Alaska Tax Credit Bond Corporation History

- Created to re-finance up to $1 billion of oil and gas tax credits that are currently accrued, are reflected as a liability on the State's balance sheet, and are currently expected to be paid over a number of years.
- Prior to FY 2016, the appropriations to the oil and gas tax credit fund generally were enough to fully pay the tax credit certificates requested for purchase each year from the fund. After FY 2016, the appropriations to the fund were not enough to meet the full amount of the requested tax credit certificates for purchase each year. The change was not anticipated.
- The accrued credits will be present valued (discounted from their face value) based on the projected statutory payment timeline and a discount rate established by the state's cost of borrowing plus 1.5% or a rate of 10% depending upon the credit holders commitment to Alaska. The Fall 2019 Revenue Sources Book estimated $739 million of accrued credits that using current interest rates would be valued at between $660 and $583 million if bonds are issued in fiscal year 2020.
- The Department of Natural Resources and Department of Revenue will determine which credit holders will be participating in the program at what discount rates and enter into agreements to purchase the credits at discounted rates
- The Tax Credit Certificate Bond Corporation (TCCBC) will enter into a contract with the State of Alaska, Department of Revenue to provide funds for the purchase of the discounted credits in exchange for annual payments (subject to appropriation) sufficient to pay expenses of the TCCBC.
- The TCCBC will issue bonds to fund the payment to the State of Alaska, pledging the State of Alaska's commitment to pay (subject to annual appropriation) on the contract as the means of repayment.
- This structure provides the benefits of:
 - A financial benefit to the State of Alaska by discounting credits at a higher rate than the bonds.
 - A financial benefit to credit holders as the discount rate is likely to be lower than their current incremental cost of capital.
 - The potential to increase investment in oil and gas development in Alaska
- The constitutionality of the subject to appropriation commitment of the State to the TCCBC bonds was challenged. The Superior Court affirmed the constitutionality of the bonds, and the plaintiff appealed to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court decision is expected soon. Bonds will not be issued prior to a final legal decision

Alaska Tax Credit Financing - State Security Structure

The Department of Natural Resources would handle the agreements for overriding royalty interest, and waivers of confidentiality for early release of seismic data which would allow for a reduction of the 10% discount rate to 1.50% above the TIC of the TCCB Corp. bonds.

Recent Financial Market/Credit Rating Challenges

2018 INVESTORS PERCEPTIONS ON THE STATE OF ALASKA:

Perception

Response

Alaska's Economy
Totally Reliant On
Oil & Is In Free Fall

- In 2016 the oil and gas sector represents about 13% of Alaska's GDP ($6.75 billion of $50.7 billion GDP) and represented approximately 4% of employment <http://labor.alaska.gov/trends/jul17.pdf>
- Oil and gas is the only industry in Alaska whose GDP is less in 2016 than in 2012 while other sectors have experienced moderate declines, stability or growth <http://labor.alaska.gov/trends/jul17.pdf>
- The State of Alaska does not rely on the broader economy for revenue as there is no broad based tax in Alaska
- The State benefits from the national and international economy through the investments of the Permanent Fund

Reserves Are Dwindling

- The reserve position of Alaska at 6/30/2017 is above the 6/30/2015 position
- Permanent Fund Earnings Reserve increased $4.2 billion from FY 2016 to FY 2017
- Often discussed draws on reserves (SBR and CBRF) have been offset by deposits into the Earnings Reserve
 - The Net Position of Alaska increased as a result of FY 2017 activity
- The Net Position of Alaska is projected to increase in each of the next nine years

The State Won't
Be Able To Balance
It's Budget

- SB26 was passed
- Expenditures have been significantly reduced and may be reduced further
- In 2017 and 2018 the Governor and Legislature didn't follow the statutory formula for determining the Permanent Fund Dividend and inflation proofing appropriations
- Just like the CBRF the Earnings Reserve of the Permanent Fund may be appropriated without statutory change
 - Alaska's oil and gas tax credit structure has been changed
- Considering available revenues to the State, the budget has been in balance

RATING AGENCY CHALLENGES IN 2019/2020

Political Paralysis

- Extended session and two special legislative sessions in 2019
- Four highly contentious issues comprised of operating and capital budgets, the permanent fund dividend amount and reversing the sweep (CBRF) appropriation
- All parties recognize the eventual need to change financial behavior, but significant difference between the House, Senate, and Governor combined with financial strengths have resulted in decisions being deferred.
- Moody's placed the State on negative outlook during second special session, implying probability of negative ratings action

Deterioration in the Advancement of Financial Policies

- Fitch Ratings declarations in September 2019 state credit downgrade
- Fitch Analysts made extrapolations on potential outcomes from fiscal year 2020 budget debate and implementation
- Fitch opined that fiscal 2020 budget includes deep cuts to core state services that could have implications for future growth of the state's already limited economy

Recurring Historical Concerns

- Comparatively large net pension liability
- Ongoing structural UGF imbalance and reliance on one-time (financial) resources
- Narrow economy that is relatively small
- Outsized proportion of operating revenues related to petroleum development

Recent Financial Market/Credit Rating Challenges

Demonstrates the limits of Alaska's recurring fiscal shortfall challenge:
