COVID-19 vaccines have arrived in Southeast and are being administered to frontline healthcare workers, first-responders and to our long-term care residents and staff.

Over the last 48 hours SEARHC has distributed vaccines to City and Borough of Sitka, City and Borough of Wrangell, Prince of Wales Island, Klawock, Alaska, City and Borough of Juneau, Organized Village of Kake and City Of Angoon.

Thank you to Allen Marine Tours and Alaska Seaplanes for moving the vaccines despite the weather. We are honored to work in partnership to distribute these vaccines. Check our stories for images from each community.

COVID-19 Vaccination Update

Keeping you and your families safe during the COVID-19 pandemic is our top priority.

We want you to know that SEARHC is working closely with our state's leaders and public health officials to secure COVID-19 vaccines for every person in Southeast Alaska. Vaccinating everyone will take time and be dependent on vaccine availability.

The COVID-19 vaccines are being distributed based on sequencing guidelines developed by state, national and global vaccination specialists and approved by SEARHC's medical directors. For more information on sequencing, visit covid19.searhc.org.

People interested in receiving the vaccines are strongly encouraged to sign up online.

SEARHC will contact you when the vaccine is available for your appropriate, sequenced group.

Sitka: “We have a comprehensive COVID-19 response plan in place. Collaborating leadership from SEARHC, CBS and EMS communicate regularly with Alaska DHSS and the state emergency operations center,” said City and Borough of Sitka Fire Chief and Emergency Manager Dave Miller.

Juneau: Juneau’s COVID-19 vaccine clinic will distribute approximately 2,100 doses of the Pfizer vaccine thanks to a partnership with SouthEast Alaska Regional Health Consortium (SEARHC).

“Vaccinating the community of Juneau is essential and in line with SEARHC’s mission of Alaska Native People working in partnership to provide the best healthcare for our communities,” SEARHC Vice President Eric Gettis said.
