FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2022 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB036

Analysis

The legislation is expected to have no fiscal impact on current University of Alaska operations.

This legislation would add a reporting requirement by adding a new subsection to AS 14.40.190. The board would be required to prepare a biennial report on the status of national, regional, and programmatic accreditations at the University of Alaska, and describing the efforts being made to maintain or achieve those accreditations. The report would be presented to the House and Senate Education Committees no later than the 30th day of the first regular legislative session.

Per existing board policy, P10.06.010, each university is required to regularly assess all instructional programs to evaluate their quality and effectiveness. These program reviews are designed to meet the standards of applicable national, regional and specialized accrediting bodies. Annually, each university must provide the Academic and Student Affairs Committee of the board, a report on the status of these ongoing program reviews which includes a discussion on academic accreditation. The board revised its policy on accreditation, P10.02.070, to include an annual formal written report on the status of institutional and specialized accreditation.

The University of Alaska System has dozens of programmatic accreditations at our three separately accredited universities. While the internal processes for compiling, tracking and reporting this information annually to the board already exists, accounting for the status of each individual program's accreditations on a biennial basis is expected to pose negligible administrative work by provosts and faculty. Accordingly, no fiscal impact for the university system is expected by this legislation.
