Dear Members of the House Education Committee,

I am a mother of 6 children, 5 of whom are enrolled in an Alaska public school. I am writing in favor of HB 105. The rights of parents to know what is happening in the lives of their children must be protected. Why must a parent be made aware of what children are engaging in at school? Aside from it being a matter that has until recently been an accepted fact, it is because we bear the responsibility for their health and welfare until they reach the age of 18 and even beyond. It is our responsibility to clothe them, feed them, give them shelter, seek medical attention, provide them with the basic necessities of life, and love them.

The schools and teachers may care about our children, but they do not love them with the kind of love a parent holds. Parents are not and cannot be considered by the State or the schools as the enemy from whom children need to be protected during their school time hours. This Bill ensures that the natural role a parent plays in the life of a child is protected from those who would seek to hide important information about a child's life from the very people who are tasked with providing guidance, love, and care for that child.

Additionally, the biological realities of body differences should have the paramount place of concern over the self images of individual students. The overall safety of children and psychological comfort of the majority must be protected. A boy's body does not belong in a girls' locker room. Girls deserve a safe place to change and be vulnerable in their bodies without having that space encroached upon by a member of the opposite biological sex.

Please do the right thing and stand up for the rights of parents to know what is happening in their children's lives and the safety of our students at school to have single-sex spaces that are respected for the private nature of what happens in those spaces.

Sincerely,
Danielle Witczak,

Vote "Yes" on House Bill 105. These educators who insist on talking to students about sex without their parents' permission shouldn't have access to children at all. Boys in drag don't belong in girls' locker rooms or restrooms. Parents have every right to know what their kids are being taught and they should have access to their health records as well as their academic records. They also should be able to walk into their kids' school and observe what's happening. After all, parents are paying for these government schools that are doing a poor job of teaching English and math. They don't deserve disrespect from tax funded public school employees.

Legislators,

A child's proper education and upbringing relies upon parental involvement in the child's life. The family, led by the parents, is the fundamental unit of our community and its cohesiveness and structure must be promoted and protected. With rights come responsibilities, and with responsibilities there must come the authority to carry them out. Our state government and public education system should not then allow for, promote nor facilitate the exclusion of a child's parents from that necessary involvement and influence. Creating (or allowing) barriers between parents and their children is dangerous and destructive. I encourage you to support and advance HB 105 relating to parental rights in education.

House Education Committee and Representative Allard,

My husband and I support HB 105 for our families and our students here in Alaska.

While our children are through school and have become productive adults with families of their own, we are entirely opposed to the idea that schools and/or teachers can keep "life-changing secrets" or any other secrets from parents. If this were to be the case (or is the case), then we can only surmise that public schools are no longer a safe place for our children.

Furthermore, bathrooms and shower facilities for students should be separate for biological males and biological females. Any situation or circumstance that allows biological males and biological females to use these facilities together will be considered by us, as parents, to be unacceptable and unsafe for our children.

Parents know their children best and are in the best position to make educational decisions for them. Parents are both legally and ultimately responsible for their children when it comes to health, education, moral values, ethics, and citizenship...not teachers and not schools.

Thank you, this concludes our testimony.

Dear members of the House Education Committee,

I am writing this as a concerned citizen of the State of Alaska. Our education system is failing our children and we the taxpayers. The test results and literacy metrics of Alaskan students are consistently amongst the very worst of all the states in the Union, and show no signs of improvement. Despite these facts some activist groups, teachers unions, and educators seem to want to focus more on "woke" ideologies that harm the very youth they claim to want to help and engage in actions contrary to parental wishes or even sometimes without parental knowledge. These actions include merging bathrooms and locker rooms into single-sex use; discussing sex changes, surgeries, gender identity, and other sexually-related issues with children in all grade levels; withholding students' health information; and pushing extremely explicit reading material in our classrooms and libraries.

It is imperative that our leaders recognize the dire need to return to the fundamentals of reading, writing, and arithmetic. We are doing the next generation tremendous harm by not focusing our efforts on truly improving the learning experience and quality of schoolwork but instead allowing certain individuals to indoctrinate the children and undermine parents. We are also doing disservice to the Alaskan taxpayers by spending increasing amounts of public money on a school system which is not accountable to us for how it spends our funds and hasn't shown real test metric improvement on any level for quite some time.

It is the God-given responsibility of the parents to teach their children these sensitive matters- or at the very least it is their right to approve or disapprove of such topics being taught to their children by a third party. This duty is not the right of teachers or anyone else, despite their claims, and the fact that this bill is even causing a firestorm is very troubling. HB 105 does not violate anyone's constitutional rights nor targets any bloc of people for discrimination. It merely reaffirms the parents' rights and duties that have been understood as a bedrock of Western civilization for centuries, guides our school districts back to responsible educating, and reigns in this anti-parental sentiment that is running amok.

I urge the committee members to support HB 105 and bring it to the floor for a full House vote. Please stand firm in the wave of targeted opposition and reaffirm the rights of parents in their children's education as supreme over all other parties.

Sincerely,
Josiah Henry

Representative Allard,

There are now hundreds and thousands of very impressionable young boys and girls who deeply regrets their choice to follow various social contagion phenomena originating on social media. Public employee authority figures who make impressions can and do contribute to these social contagions that affect our children and often lead to life long serious regrets for many.

One Example I offer is a group that is growing in numbers known as detransitioners. After life altering procedures that involve chemical castrations, drugs that permanently alter natural body functions, surgical castrations, mastectomies, other surgeries, and psychological counseling this group of young people have no way to recover from the choice they made. In many cases these children were put on a fast track to infertility, permanent voice change, hair loss, mutilation, and all sorts of medical complications. School age children are too young to fully comprehend many complexities of life. Thank you for your support HB105 so parents can watch over and care for their children.

I am emailing in support of HB 105 and its intent to guarantee parents rights.

Teachers and school boards in many cases deliberately exclude parents or parents input in order to indoctrinate an ideology not consistent with traditional values of most parents. Those opposed to this bill are again deliberately attempting to exclude parents.

Thank you for your support HB105

Thank you,

Jimmy Morrison

Dear Representatives,

As a parent, we are committed to raising our children to the age of 18, as per federal government dictates. We are responsible for feeding, clothing, sheltering, providing health care, educating and more to the age of 18. With that being noted... The education system falls under the states that help provide teaching. It does not give the state control over how education is completed. Teaching our children non-educational curriculum is not the responsibility of the state or the local school district. It is the parents right to know what the child is being taught and the health care the child is given. Parents have the right to know what is happening in an individual classroom through curriculum and teaching. A parent has the right to ask questions and receive honest answers about their child until the age of 18.

Remember years ago? The parent was responsible for the child until the age of 21... then they lowered it to age 18. And we all know, especially males are unable to make good logical thought out decisions before the age of 24 due to frontal lobe development is not complete until age 24. There are reasons car insurance companies have a different pricing scale for younger males under the age of 24.

I'm sure everyone of you that are reading this email can go back in your younger years and know that you have made some poor decisions in your youth not knowing all of the future consequences until it was much too late. Allowing young children and teens to make decisions without a parent's knowledge is going to be major consequences to society in years to come.

Please vote YES to HB 105 allowing parents to have rights in knowing what their child/children are being taught and decisions that they make through their educational system till the age of 18.

Kindly,

Rita Trometter

Good Morning representatives,

Thank you for discussing important parental rights.

As a parent, grandmother and retired school teacher I recognize students should feel safe in the restrooms and locker rooms by separating access to these rooms by biological sex. Sex education should not be taught in schools before grade five.

Parents house, feed, clothe and pay their children's bills. Parents need to have access to all their child's school records. After children grow up and the school influence wanes, parents continue to have a relationship with their adult child for many years.

Please support HB 105 in its original form.

Public Testimony HB105

Dear Representative Allward,

I'd like to thank you and the education committee for taking my public testimony via email today. My name is Amy Sundheim, I've worked in Alaska as a School Psychologist for 20 years. I also am the parent of 3 children in public schools in Homer, Alaska. I am in support of HB 105 to honor parental controls and participation over health decisions for children.

We want to be notified of topics and content that will be introduced in sex education classes, health instruction, and school counseling. This includes inviting parents to join guest speakers and view supplemental content like videos or web resources that will be given to students. I want to see improved and expanded communication between home and school so that parent engagement is foundational to how schools function. Busy, but concerned parents want notification to come in multiple forms such as newsletters, emails, robo-texts and calls, and facebook posts. Details about the particulars should be shared with us so we can make connections with our kids on these sensitive topics. Covid closed the doors to parents and supportive community members. Parents and caretakers literally could not come into schools with their children anymore. Now there is a desperate need to build parent partnerships back up within the schools and empower parents with ways to support their child's educational and health needs. Students of all ages need networks of support from trusted adults including teachers, school counselors, coaches, community mental health providers, but especially and most essentially from their parents and guardians. I believe this bill will ensure that schools have guidance for how to engage parents and build partnerships on behalf of all our kids.

Sincerely,
Amy Sundheim

Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Flagged

To All Elected Officials of the State of Alaska:

Please pass HB 105. If the bill fails, please introduce new legislation just like the bill. The bill is not seeking anything extreme. Not passing the bill invites extreme behaviors, ideologies, and sexual indoctrination of our children to occur unchecked.

Any activities, classes, or programs that involve gender identity, human reproduction, or sexual matters delivered to the youth of Alaska should not be administered without the parent's ability to review such lesson plans and opt their child out if they so choose. A parent should have the right to also have conversations with their child before or after such materials or activities occur, which only strengthens the parent-child relationships. Fostering strong family bonds and open conversations only strengthens the future of our children and nation. Additionally, in no instance should parental rights be infringed upon as it is governmental overreach – and schools constitute government agencies, hence why bible teachings have not been allowed in public schools for decades. The fact that some teachers in Alaska have spoken out against this bill rings alarm bells, red flags, and should quite frankly, those teachers should be actively investigated by the school districts and Law Enforcement. The question should be – what are they trying to hide from us and why?

In many places, it has become acceptable, legal and/or standard practice that children be subjected to pornographic materials, drag shows, and disturbing extreme ideological concepts of gender identity (transitioning before adulthood through gender-affirming healthcare) at a very young age in schools. Some materials being used even graphically depict sexual acts – to include oral sex and anal penetration and sex acts between children and adults. These materials, drag shows, etc. are harmful for a young developing mind and should not be given to children. These types of materials and events should be for adults only. The countless viral drag show videos that can be found by a simple social media search show children of all ages being exposed to naked to half naked adults. In one case, a 10th grade girl received a lap dance, and her face was buried in the crotch of an adult transgendered individual in front of what appeared to be a gym full of students. This is disturbing as we wouldn't allow biological women to perform a strip show for our children, so why would we allow a naked transgender person to do a stripper show? Simply put, neither is acceptable and parents should have a right to know what is being taught or shown to their children.

The materials and events occurring in some schools is truly "grooming" by adults with some nefarious intentions. Parents should never be kept in the dark regarding what their child is being exposed to at school. It outwardly contradicts the "no secrets" rule we have historically used to keep children protected from pedophiles and assailants. We question the motives of anyone trying to "keep secrets" regarding these matters from parents. Additionally, under no circumstances should a child under the fourth grade ever be taught any topic related to gender identity, human reproduction, or sexual matters, which is addressed later in the bill.

Regarding the next part of the bill for the use of names and pronouns, again, this is a parent-child relationship matter, not the government's right (i.e., schools) to involve itself in and keep secret. Social media, public figures, government officials, and schools across the nation are beginning to fill children's heads with concepts of which children cannot fully understand, as their brains have not been fully developed, nor has their sexuality. Thinking or believing otherwise simply is baseless nonsense with no real scientific evidence. The number of children and adults coming out as "de-transitioning" citing irreversible physical mutilations, mental health damages, and grooming by adults at a young age is not something to discredit and dismiss so nonchalantly. For the sake of staying on point for this bill, the talking points on this issue will be reserved for bills and/or laws surrounding the legality of gender-affirming care for minors.

For the section of the bill regarding parental access to information regarding a child's physical, medical, or mental health, please see points made in paragraph one of this letter. Again, the question should be – what are they trying to hide from us and why?

Lastly, regarding the physical safety and privacy of students in locker rooms and restrooms through the separation of students by biological sex, access to single occupant facilities, or other safety and privacy protocols is not an extreme request. A young girl should not have her first experience seeing a boy's penis in her school locker room or bathroom. Vice versa for boys. Additionally, there have been countless documented cases of sexual predators who have claimed to identify as the opposite sex just to gain access to see naked girls and/or commit violent assaults to include rape. The mainstream media is burying these incidents. However, they are occurring on an unimaginable scale – a simple search on non-mainstream media outlets will support the cases. Women in several prisons are crying out as biological males who identify as "trans" that are incarcerated with them have been repeatedly sexually assaulting the women. Biological males who claimed to be "trans" are openly threatening to assault women and girls physically if they are not allowed in a woman's restroom all over social media. Considering we have some of the highest reported sexual assault rates in the nation, it is frightening to think a loophole will exist for these predators and assailants if they just "identify" with the opposite sex. To be clear – they aren't always really "trans" at all.

Many people who have spoken out against the bill so far have cited the harm this bill will only cause for already "vulnerable transgendered youth". These statements are simply baseless. Failure to pass the bill will only cause harm to all youth in our public school system. To be clear, this bill is not "anti-trans" or "transphobic". The bill is designed to protect our children from materials and teachings parents do not approve of, nefarious agendas, sexual predators, and sexual indoctrination without parental consent or knowledge. Again – we demand as parents "NO SECRETS"

Sincerely,

Amanda Stonecipher

Good morning

While HB 105 was being heard I tried to call in with some pro testimony. I was on the phone for over 2 hours & had to go.

While I was waiting I went on Twitter to look up the bill & see if there were any comments. I found several posts indicating the con HB 105 folks, who were organized through several groups, including planned parenthood, had a plan for everybody to call as soon as the lines opened. They were boasting they had clogged the lines.

Organizing is fine. That's what people do. But in this case it felt like the con people tried to monopolize the phones.

I'm wondering if it would be better to have, say 30 minutes of pro testimony then 30 minutes of con, switching back & forth. That way the phone lines would stay open for everyone.

Just an idea for the future.

Dear Members of the House Education Committee,

Firstly, thank you for your willingness to be an Alaska State Legislator in Juneau, AK.

I implore you to support Governor Dunleavy's bill to protect the rights of families with school-aged children. As a mother of three children (30, 14 & 6), I (and my husband) know our children the best! We want to decide what our children will be taught in school, especially in regards to sex education. My oldest child, who graduated from East High School, used to bring home permission slips in order to attend certain activities. I was able to evaluate the content of the class or activity and decide if my daughter would attend. Please keep it this way!!!! My second child, who is now 14, has always gone to a private school because my husband and I learned of some rather shocking ideology being taught in public schools. My youngest child (6), whom we adopted out of foster care, will also be attending a private school or will be homeschooled. Our private school recognizes the authority of the parent to decide if our children are allowed to attend human development classes. Please give the same level of respect to parents who have children in public schools.

Children have enough physical, social and emotional struggles to deal with. We DO NOT need school officials to create shrouds of secrecy with students who might be confused about their gender. Parents need to know!!!!

We need HB105A to pass to protect the safety of our girls. Biological boys need to use restrooms and locker rooms. As a woman, I would be horrified to see biological male parts in a female locker room!!

LET KIDS BE KIDS! DO NOT ROB THEM OF THEIR INNOCENCE!

Please support parents, foster parents, and guardians and keep schools safe!!! Please support HB105A!

Very Sincerely,

Katie M Gibson

Personally, I believe God created male and female with no variations, so I am asking you as my representative to vote according to Judeo-Christian values to uphold the US as a Christian nation and Anchorage and Alaska as a safe, wholesome place to rear children to protect and preserve them from destruction. Children need guidance and protection from their parents. Studies show their brains are not fully developed until they are 25, hence the need for sound counsel and loving guidance. Hello,

I've heard HB 105 has received a lot of bad mouth testimony about Christians raising children. Too me, that sounds like the teachers sex cult thinks quite highly of themselves and their own dogmas.

I could be incorrect. It could be some other dogmatic cult trying to harvest more souls for use by their cult...like marxists, communists, socialists, etc.. Cult branding is not as refined and specific as genetics are in the case of family units. Beyond baseline genetic codes, such as cro magnon, family genetics carry more specific proclivities, predispositions, propensities and understandings born of those genes.

The family unit is prime in all genetic codes and is part of the planetary paradygm for life. Weaponized governmental legal intrusion into the family paradygm should be extremely limited lest the government itself become defunct.

Serve the best of what created the government's existence and purpose. Be mindful of what dogmas you allow into your attitude, because some people destroy goodness, for money.

It is our fundamental right to have access to our children's school records. Parents are best to speak to and teach their children about human reproduction and sexuality. Schools should need written permission from parents before broaching these subjects with our students.

It is vital you support:

- Preventing schools from teaching sex education prior to fourth grade
- Ensuring that parents maintain the right to determine the names their children will use at school
- Preventing schools from refusing to release sensitive, personal student records to parents
- Requiring school districts to adopt physical safety concerns for student restrooms & locker rooms by separating those areas by biological sex

But that is no excuse for removing the rights to have a say in there children's up bring.

I know that you have heard from a very well organized minority on this bill. But would loving remind you that they are very very small percent. I believe that they should not be able to set the policy for the whole Nation.

In closing I would remind you that in the past the School policy to have to call home to get permission to give my child an Aspirin seemed a little extreme. But would hope that we would be contacted if our child was having gender issues, and was considering drugs or worse self mutilation.

Thank you for your time . For God, Family, and Alaska :: David Homer.

I am writing to you today in favor of HB 105. I spent 5 years as an educator in the public school system. Now I am the mother of 5 young children. Although we will not always agree on how it is done.... It is the responsibility of the parent to raise their children. This responsibility must not be taken away from the parents and given to the state. Parents must have an open communication and be included in any decisions made for and by their children. I know that many parents hand over all responsibility of teaching their children to the school. They don't answer emails, work at home with their children, or discipline their children. I know the frustration that teachers feel. But this is wrong. And this scenario must not be the norm and must not lead to the assumption that it is the school's right to make parenting decisions for our children. HB 105 delineates very reasonable guidelines which should be upheld in our schools. Thank you.

Please pass HB 105 to protect parental rights in our schools and keep our children safe. School should be a safe place for all students especially in bathroom and locker rooms.

Only biological males should be with biological males and only biological females with biological females.

Parents should have the right to opt in or out for sex education classes and know what the curriculum is before it is taught. Parents should know what is happening with our children in school. Our children are the future...

Thank you for your time.

Dear Esteemed Legislators,

I am writing in support of the passage of HB105 which supports our parental rights in schools. It is wrong for anyone besides parents to decide what is best for our kids. Teachers should not be discussing sex, sexual preference, transgenderism, or anything else that should only be addressed by parents in the privacy of their own home.

In addition, students must only use the bathroom that corresponds with their biological sex, not their "preferred " gender of the day. It is dangerous for young men to shower or use the restroom along side of young women. It will open the schools and the state to litigation the first time a young girl is sexually assaulted by a boy using the girls bathroom under the guise of "I'm transgender". The safety of the young girls must come first.

Please do the right thing and pass HB105 to protect our students.

Thank you,
Sandy Harris

Subject: Support HB105

I am regarding the parents' rights bill, HB105. I fully support this bill and implore you to pass it. I am a 40 year veteran of the Anchorage School District, as well as a parent and grand parent.

As an educator, I am embarrassed by some of the testimonies of teachers I have heard. As a parent I am mortified that these educators believe my parental abilities are not adequate to teach my own children values, morals, and character. It is a parent's responsibility and right to decide when, where, and how these things are taught to their children.

Last, our public school system is failing its students and our communities. Please send the message that we will not allow our children to suffer and flounder in this system any more. Pass HB105.

Respectfully,
Kathi Gallagher
