FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2023 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB 60

Analysis

Senate Bill 60 would eliminate the Alaska Workers' Compensation Appeals Commission currently housed within the Department of Labor, and transfer jurisdiction over appeals pending in that Commission and all future appeals from the decisions of the Workers' Compensation Board to the superior court.

According to case data previously provided by the Commission, an average of 33 appeals per year were handled by the Commission in the period from 2006-2017, with a decrease in the number in more recent years. The court system therefore anticipates that, under this bill, the superior court would be handling approximately 30 additional administrative appeals from the Board each year. These additional cases would be presided over by a superior court judge; we anticipate that the impact of these new cases would be spread across jurisdictions and could be handled by our superior court judges without additional resources.

The court system does not anticipate that this bill would change the caseload of the Supreme Court, which already currently handles appeals from the Commission. Its jurisdiction would not be altered under this bill; the appeals would simply come from the superior court instead of from the Commission.

The court system anticipates that it will be able to absorb the increased caseload into its operations without a fiscal impact, and therefore submits this zero fiscal note.
