FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2024 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. HB 205

Analysis

This bill establishes that life begins at conception and criminalizes abortion. With respect to the Medicaid program, this bill would preclude the department from paying for an abortion service or drug, irrespective of medical necessity.

This bill defines a "child" as a natural person from the moment of conception until 18 years of age. This definition may result in the classification of long-acting reversible contraceptives (LARC), e.g., progesterone containing oral contraceptives, intrauterine devices (IUD), and emergency contraception as abortifacients, and therefore subject to criminalization established in this bill. Progesterone containing products have multiple mechanisms by which they impact the potential for pregnancy, among these the ability to cause alterations in the lining of the uterus (endometrium) which can impact the ability of a fertilized egg to achieve implantation. These types of contraception do not prevent fertilization, but instead prevent nidation, the process by which the fertilized egg enters the uterus, attaches to the endometrium, and penetrates its interior to continue development.

Criminalization of these methods of contraception would increase birth rates and significantly increase Medicaid costs to cover the increased number of pregnancies, postpartum care following delivery, and medical care for the newborn; result in the revocation of licensure of hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers, and any other health facilities that continue to dispense, insert, or otherwise provide these methods of contraception result in the inability of an individual to be employed in a licensed healthcare setting if they were prosecuted, under this bill, for causing abortion.

An increase in Medicaid recipient complaints is expected which will result in mediation and/or fair hearings expenses. The costs associated cannot be calculated at this time since it is unknown how many complaints regarding available methods of contraception will be received.

The department submits an indeterminant fiscal note at this time; the costs associated with the implementation of this bill are difficult to determine due to multiple factors involved, and that costs would not be driven by the department, but rather the choices made by women of childbearing age.

Costs associated with regulations and system modifications can be absorbed by existing staff and contracts.
