Disclosure of the Existence of a Close Economic Association

The Legislative Ethics Law requires legislators and legislative employees to disclose their close economic associations with supervisors, legislators, public officials (other than appointed municipal officials) who must file Conflict of Interest Statements with the APOC, registered lobbyists and, if the discloser is a legislator, with legislative employees.  Re: Disclosure

In my capacity as Vice Chair of The Energy Council and as host of The Energy Council's Spring State Trends in Energy and the Environment Conference in Anchorage June 2-6, I took a tour of the Usibelli Coal Mine in Healy. The tour included an overview of the proposed Clean Coal Technology project of Golden Valley Electric Association. Usibelli Coal Mine, Inc., hosted by Joe Usibelli Jr., graciously provided a lunch.

Travel, via ERA Charter Twin Otter, was provided by The Energy Council. The per passenger charge did exceed $100.00.

During the course of the Energy Council's meetings in Anchorage. I attended a number of meetings, receptions and dinners hosted by The Energy Council and it's affiliate, the Center of Legislative Energy and Environmental Research (CLEER). I paid a registration fee for the conference and do not believe that additional costs of food and beverage exceeded $100.00.

RE: Disclosure

Pursuant to AS 24.60.080, I am filing the following disclosure.

On July 20, 1993 I traveled to Portland, Oregon to address the "Developing Policies and Partnerships for Homeless Pregnant and Parenting Teens" conference sponsored by University of Washington, Division of Adolescent Medicine.

The intent of the meeting was to increase knowledge and generate understanding of challenges working with other systems. The group focused on developing policies to adapt current programs to accommodate homeless pregnant and parenting teen clients.

I traveled to Portland and gave my presentation on July 20, 1993. I attended the remainder of the conference and departed Portland for Washington D.C. on the red-eye flight Wednesday night.

I arrived in Washington D.C. the morning of July 22, 1993.

In my capacity as Vice-Chair of The Energy Council, a legislative organization, at the request of the U.S. Department of Energy, I testified before DOE representatives at the Domestic Energy Initiative meeting. The purpose of the meeting was to work with the DOE on its domestic energy initiative.

While in Washington D.C., I also met with the Congressional delegation, worked with the NASDA executive director on airport and international marketing issues, and met with the Coast Guard regarding OPA 90.

I returned to Anchorage on July 25, 1993.

Portland arrangements were made by and expenses, hotel, cab and meals, paid for by the conference sponsor, University of Washington, Division of Adolescent Medicine. Washington D.C. arrangements were made by and expenses, hotel, cab and meals, paid for by the Energy Council. The University of Washington and the Energy Council each paid half of the airfare expense. The combined value of each portion of the trip exceeded 100.00.
