ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary.)

This bill is likely to have some fiscal impact on the Public Defender Agency. We generally do not represent people in traffic cases. (In Alaska, a person only has the right to a court-appointed attorney if he or she is charged with a serious offense.) However, because this bill calls for a court revocation rather than an administrative revocation by the Division of Motor Vehicles, we may end up being involved. The Alaska Supreme Court has said that the potential for loss of a "valuable license" may make the offense serious enough to require a jury trial and a court-appointed attorney, if necessary.

The Public Defender Agency is submitting an indeterminate fiscal note because we may be required to represent defendants in jury trials if this bill becomes law.
