HB 181 repeals four sections of the Alaska Community Property Act and replaces them with a general rule that an obligation incurred by a spouse can only be satisfied from that spouse's non-community property and that spouse's interest in the community property, no matter when the obligation was incurred. In addition, the bill provides for how community property is to be divided upon the death of a spouse, and how it is to be distributed; allows for transfers of community property to a community property trust; and makes changes to how community property relates to life insurance purchases.

Passage of HB 181 will have no fiscal impact on the Department of Law.
