“(a) A person commits the crime of aiding the nonpayment of child support in the second degree if the person

(1) knows that an obligor has a duty under an administrative or judicial order for periodic payment of child support or for the provision of health care coverage for a child under a medical support order; and

(2) intentionally

(A) being a person with a statutory duty to disclose information to a child support enforcement agency, withholds the information [ABOUT THE RESIDENCE OR EMPLOYMENT OF THE OBLIGOR] when it [THAT INFORMATION] is requested by a child support enforcement agency;

(B) being an employer of the obligor, withholds information about the residence or employment of the obligor, the eligibility of the obligor’s children for coverage under the employer’s health insurance plan, or [ABOUT] the cost of the coverage of the children under the plan, when that information is requested by a child support enforcement agency or when the employer is required by state or federal law

(C) participates in a commercial, business, [OR] employment, or other arrangement with the obligor, knowing at the time that the arrangement is made that it will allow the obligor to avoid paying all or some of the support when it is due or to avoid having a lien placed on assets for the payment of delinquent support; receipt of a substantial asset for less than fair market value from an obligor after the obligor's support order has been established constitutes a rebuttable presumption that the person receiving the asset knew that the transfer would allow the obligor to avoid paying all or some of the support or to avoid having a lien placed on the asset."
