ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

If passed, this bill would raise the maximum amount that a court could impose as a fine for infractions of AS 28 from $300 to $750.

While the majority of the bail amounts for infractions related to AS 28 are established by the Alaska Supreme Court, there are a select number of offenses that require a mandatory court appearance. In these cases, the magistrate or judge can determine the amount of fine to be imposed. The maximum amount has been $300, for over 27 years.

While it is reasonable to assume there will be some increase in revenues as a result of this bill, due to the limited number of offenses that would fall into this category and because fines are set by the courts based on numerous contributing variables, including severity of the behavior resulting in the infraction, we have no way fo estimating how much added revenues would be generated.
