ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

This legislation makes it an infraction if a person fails to notify the appropriate department of a change of name or address if convicted. Section two adds an affirmative defense clause under driver license violations. The bill also provides for the appropriate department to use the latest address records available from the department, police reports, or addresses provided in permanent fund dividend applications to the Department of Revenue. This so the department can notify the licensee involved in a motor vehicle accident notifying them that their license suspension may become effective if they don't make an oral or written answer controverting any point or issue regarding their failure to provide proof of motor vehicle insurance.

This bill will have no fiscal impact upon the division of the Alaska State Troopers.
