ANALYSIS: (Attach a separate page if necessary)

This proposed legislation reinstates the Alaska Longevity Bonus (ALB) payments for individuals who were qualified to receive them before January 1, 1997, and who received a payment in June 2003 when funding for the program ended. To qualify for the ALB, individuals must reapply for the program before January 1, 2008, and be a resident of the state under AS 01.10.055 on the day the reapplication is signed and dated.

Analysis Assumptions

- * This fiscal note assumes legislation will be effective and ALB payments will begin with the benefit month July 2007.
- * Reapplication for the ALB will only be accepted if received before January 1, 2008.
- * 12,631 former ALB recipients may be eligible to qualify for the ALB in FY08: 95% or approximately 11,999 seniors will be eligible and 5% or 631 potential ALB recipients will not qualify for the ALB because they do not meet the program's residency requirements or will not apply.
- * The average ALB payment is $212/month as the amount of the benefit ranged from $100 to $250 depending on time of previous entry into the program.
- * An ALB recipient may not accrue an ALB payment for more than two months before the date of application in accordance with AS 47.45.080.
- * The number of months a person may receive ALB payments in FY08 will vary depending on date of application, as shown in the chart below.
- * Program expenditures for FY09 through FY13 will decline each year as eligible seniors move away, enter nursing homes, or expire.

ANALYSIS CONTINUATION

Note: We assume that if the Alaska Longevity Bonus and the Alaska Senior Benefits program are both funded, seniors will need to choose either the Alaska Longevity Bonus or the Alaska Senior Benefits program. Seniors who choose to receive the Alaska Longevity Bonus will not receive the Alaska Senior Benefits program. The cost for the Alaska Longevity Bonus will decrease by the number of seniors who choose to receive the Alaska Senior Benefits program.
