FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS #4

STATE OF ALASKA
2013 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. HB 73

Analysis

The bill, while in part addressing sex trafficking and human trafficking specifically, also strengthens the law in several other areas including protection for victims of sexual assault and domestic violence. It also makes changes in the law of criminal procedure. The bill would adopt criminal penalties for probation and parole officers who engage in sexual penetration or sexual contact with persons on probation or parole. It makes changes in the statute of limitations for sex trafficking and human trafficking. It improves the procedure for determining whether a witness has a valid claim of privilege not to incriminate him or herself in a particular prosecution; and adopts a time limit within which to bring a claim of credit for time served against a sentence.

It requires athletic coaches to report to authorities if the coach has reasonable cause to suspect that a child has been abused or neglected. It allows the court to decide that the Office of Children's Services need not make reasonable efforts to reunite a child with the child's family if the parent or guardian has committed sexual abuse against the child or another child of the parent or guardian, or if the parent or guardian is registered or required to register as a sex offender.

The bill would also require a defendant arrested for a violation of a condition of release in connection with a domestic violence crime to be held in custody until a court has the opportunity to determine whether the defendant should be released again and on what conditions.

The bill would allow a person to bring a civil action at any time that is based on conduct by a defendant that is felony sex trafficking or felony human trafficking.

Additionally, the bill would give a court the authority to order a defendant, as a condition of bail release in a matter charging a domestic violence crime, or to order a respondent, as part of a protective order for stalking, sexual assault, or domestic violence, to participate in an electronic monitoring program under guidelines adopted by the Department of Public Safety.
