FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS #1

STATE OF ALASKA
2014 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB 156

Analysis

SB156 removes the licensure exemption for those observing cultural “lay midwife” traditions, increases the ability of the Board of Certified Direct-Entry Midwives to set standards for their profession in regulations, increases the qualifications of a midwifery supervisor, moves the conditions which restrict the midwife’s attendance of a birth out of statute and into regulation, and amends the definition of “practice of midwifery”.

The board must adopt regulations establishing practice requirements for certified direct-entry midwives under AS 08.65.140. The Board of Certified Direct-Entry Midwives meets two to four times a year and a board initiated regulation project requires additional time; the division believes an appropriate completion date for regulations revision is December 31, 2015.

The Division of Corporations, Business, and Professional Licensing does not anticipate fiscal impact from this legislation.
