ALASKA STATE LEGISLATURE
TWENTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE - FIRST SESSION

Juneau, Alaska

Monday

April 13, 2015

Eighty-fourth Day

Pursuant to adjournment the House was called to order by Speaker Chenault at 10:40 a.m.

Roll call showed 38 members present. Representative Kawasaki was absent and his presence was noted later.

Representative Millett moved and asked unanimous consent that Representative Kreiss-Tomkins be excused from a call of the House today. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

The invocation was offered by the Chaplain, Dave Stancliff. Representative Edgmon performed the song, "Alaska's Flag." Representative Wilson moved and asked unanimous consent that the invocation be spread on the journal. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

Lord, we dwell in a most beautiful land. The many decisions made on this floor will affect so many lives across its wide expanses. We ask for wisdom and guidance in the making of those decisions. We ask for patience and the ability to balance the interests of so many fairly and with respect. Help us to avoid anger. As you have so clearly reminded us, let our love for the people of this land and the beauty you have created for us temper any ill will that might arise.

As we contemplate the deeper meaning in why we are here and what we have been called to do, let us pause and give thanks for people like Rie Munoz who with her artistic blessings so well captured the more elegant and sweeter side of Alaska living. May her work and that of other artists remind us that in between the political storms that from time to time may distract us, Alaska, with all her beauty and stunning landscape, is the place we as one people are privileged to call home.

May we all have a bit more of Rie Munoz in us as we go about our sometimes less than artistic tasks. May the great North Star with her steady light inspire us and remind us of our creator and this blessed land we call Alaska. Amen.

"Alaska's Flag" was performed on the guitar by Representative Edgmon.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Representative Wool.

CERTIFICATION OF THE JOURNAL

Representative Millett moved and asked unanimous consent that the journal for the 82nd and 83rd legislative days be approved as certified by the Chief Clerk. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

The Governor's transmittal letter dated April 11, 2015, follows:

"Dear Speaker Chenault:

Under the authority of Article III, Section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to the Alaska Securities Act and certain provisions of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) proxy solicitations.

The bill would modify AS 45 by adding a new chapter, AS 45.56, relating to the Alaska Securities Act. The proposed updates would modernize and streamline the State's outdated securities laws to recognize industry changes and to support new means of raising capital, while enhancing investor protections and remedies. By adopting relevant provisions of the Uniform Securities Act (2002), this new Alaska Securities Act would incorporate proven successful practices in the industry but maintain Alaska-specific provisions relevant to the unique features of the state. Moreover, the updates would eliminate redundant or outdated references and practices.

Currently, AS 45.55 governs securities transactions in the state. Since its adoption in 1961, there have only been two relevant changes to our securities law. In 1999, a portion of the existing law was revised after the passage of the National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996. In 2014, Chapter 46, SLA 2014 eliminated several filing requirements for certain securities exemptions, but otherwise left the majority of the Alaska Securities Act unchanged. It remains outdated. By example, the current version of the Alaska Securities Act limits official notification of certain dates to telegram or telephone, but not electronic means, and continues to list stock exchanges that have merged with other entities or no longer exist. The financial industry has changed dramatically in the last 15 years and an entire overhaul of the Alaska Securities Act is necessary to put the State's laws governing securities transactions in line with other regulatory regimes.

Using the Uniform Securities Act as a springboard for changes to the Alaska Securities Act, our State benefits from a time-tested regulatory regime that has been adopted and used in at least 20 other states. By incorporating provisions proven to improve the regulation of the securities industry in other states into our laws, the state and persons doing business here will benefit. Using the Uniform Securities Act for the basic framework also provides familiarity to many industry professionals that are familiar with the Alaska Securities Act.

Using the Uniform Securities Act as the starting point, the bill would incorporate several Alaska-specific provisions aimed at protecting and supporting the public and industry. By example, proposed AS 45.56.220 would provide an exemption for small intrastate investment opportunities, commonly referred to as "crowdfunding." This would encourage local capital raising without burdensome administrative oversight and still provide necessary protections to Alaskan investors. Additionally, most notice filings relating to small projects or investments are eliminated, but investor protections are maintained.

The bill would update enforcement provisions by increasing penalties for those who violate the Alaska Securities Act, allow restitution to be ordered to compensate victims for their losses, and provide for enhanced civil penalties against violators who harm or injure an older Alaskan. Further, the bill would direct that a small portion of civil penalties may be used to provide investor education to Alaskans.

The bill also would modify existing provisions related to the treatment of ANCSA proxy solicitations in the existing chapter, AS 45.55. These limited modifications do not change any substantive law, but instead reorganize the existing laws regulating ANCSA proxy solicitations into their own chapter, as they are best regulated.

I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,
/s/
Bill Walker
Governor"
