FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2019 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

BILL NO. SB 32

Analysis

This bill increases sentencing ranges and terms of probation, removes the provisions automatically adjusting theft thresholds for inflation, creates some new crimes, and increases the charge level and penalties for crimes related to controlled substances.

There are new crimes created by this bill for generalized threats, refusal to submit to DNA testing upon arrest, and removal of electronic monitoring devices in broader circumstances. Prosecution of these new crimes will also increase appointments for the Office of Public Advocacy.

The Department of Law has reported an expected increase in referrals from law enforcement for drug related crime as a result of increasing the charge level and penalties for these crimes. The Department of Law anticipates felony drug cases to increase to 2016 levels and estimates an increase of least 750 felony cases annually. Cases with increased penalties and higher charging levels require more litigation throughout all stages of litigation, particularly jury trials, contested sentencing hearings, and post-conviction litigation.

The Office of Public Advocacy (OPA) receives approximately 25% of the cases referred to The Public Defender Agency as conflict cases. OPA has seen workload growth and increased appointments in recent fiscal years and is unable to absorb additional increases in workload with current staffing. The agency would need 2 additional attorney positions and one staff position to handle the anticipated increase in workload from the passage of this legislation.
