FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2019 LEGISLATIVE SESSIONAnalysis

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Division of Parks and Outdoor Recreation (DPOR), anticipates a $20.0 fiscal impact to revise the existing Wood-Tikchik State Park Management Plan (last updated in October 2002) and associated regulations (11 AAC 20.300 - 11 AAC 20.988) to match the statutory changes required in this bill.

The park's current management plan places stringent restrictions on activities allowed in Management Unit 3 (Chapter 9, pages 9-11 through 9-13). The plan would need to be re-drafted to reflect the Legislature's finding that a hydroelectric site is no longer incompatible with park purposes at the Nuyakuk Falls.

Under the current regulatory process DPOR must solicit public comment on proposed amendments to the management plan. After receiving public testimony on the draft amended management plan, DPOR must submit a final draft to the commissioners of DNR and Department of Fish and Game for approval.

DNR anticipates it could take up to one year to revise the management plan and solicit public comment, and to hold two public meetings in the affected region. This cost estimate assumes that the only changes to the plan would be those related to Nuyakuk Falls. Upon plan approval, DPOR would begin amending the regulations at 11 AAC 20.30, which it estimates would take approximately four months.
