ALASKA STATE LEGISLATURE

THIRTY-THIRD LEGISLATURE

FIRST SESSION

Juneau, Alaska

Wednesday

February 8, 2023

Twenty-third Day

Pursuant to adjournment the House was called to order by Speaker Tilton at 11:02 a.m.

Roll call showed 40 members present.

The invocation was offered by the Chaplain, Reverend Dr. Paul Beran, Pastor Emeritus of Resurrection Lutheran Church. Representative Vance moved and asked unanimous consent that the invocation be spread on the journal. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

With deepest respect for the religious beliefs of each person here, I invite you to a time of centering, silence, and prayer:

Gracious Lord fountainhead of wisdom,
Ages ago you richly formed the oil and buried the minerals deep in the earth. You filled the rivers with teeming salmon.
Today we ask for wisdom. As we seek to be grateful and good stewards of what you have wonderfully provided, save us from the nearsightedness of the next election or blindness to our changing climate. Give us that far-sighted wisdom to increasingly build up this state; to train, to encourage, and to care for all the people, especially the voiceless without lobbyist: the youngest, those living in the Bush, and those on the margins. I ask this in the Name of the One Who came, not to be served, but to serve. Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Representative Foster.

CERTIFICATION OF THE JOURNAL

Representative Saddler moved and asked unanimous consent that the journal for the 21st and 22nd legislative days and Senate and House Joint Journal Supplement No. 4 be approved as certified by the Chief Clerk. There being no objection, it was so ordered.

The Governor's transmittal letter dated February 7 follows:

"Dear Speaker Tilton:

Under the authority of Article III, Section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to penalties for drug distribution and using controlled substances.

Drugs and drug overdoses have had a devastating effect on our state. According to the Department of Health's 2021 Drug Overdose Mortality Update, between 2020 and 2021, Alaska experienced the largest percent increase of drug overdose deaths of any state. In 2021, Alaska recorded over 100 deaths more than the previous year. Unfortunately, fentanyl, a highly potent opioid, makes up a large percentage of these drug related deaths. Increasingly, those who distribute drugs are mixing fentanyl with other types of drugs in order to cultivate addiction and attract buyers. These buyers may not necessarily know that fentanyl is mixed in with their drug of choice, increasing the risks associated with drug use.

This legislation attacks the problem at the point of distribution, making it second degree murder when a person distributes or manufactures a controlled substance and a person dies as a direct result of ingesting that substance. This legislation further serves to protect our communities by ensuring offenders convicted of distributing or manufacturing drugs will not be subject to early release due to a "good time" deduction from their sentence. Those who choose to manufacture or distribute drugs illegally should be put on notice that there are significant consequences for the harm they cause.

I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,

/s/

Mike Dunleavy
Governor"

HB 67

HOUSE BILL NO. 67 by the House Rules Committee by request of the Governor, entitled:

"An Act relating to criminal law and procedure; relating to the crime of stalking; relating to consecutive sentencing for violation of conditions of release; relating to the duty to register as a sex offender; amending the definition of 'sex offense'; amending the definition of 'crime involving domestic violence'; relating to multidisciplinary child protection teams; amending Rule 6(r), Alaska Rules of Criminal Procedure; and providing for an effective date."

was read the first time and referred to the Judiciary and Finance Committees.

The following fiscal note(s) apply:

1. Zero, Dept. of Corrections
2. Zero, Dept. of Law
3. Zero, Dept. of Public Safety
4. Fiscal, Dept. of Administration
5. Fiscal, Dept. of Administration

The Governor's transmittal letter dated February 7 follows:

"Dear Speaker Tilton:

Under the authority of Article III, Section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill relating to increased protection for victims of sex offenses and domestic violence.

This legislation eliminates gaps in Alaska's criminal justice system and improves our laws to help victims. Specifically, the bill removes incentives for sex offenders from out of state to relocate to Alaska; helps our law enforcement personnel better monitor the activities of sex offenders within our state; more appropriately groups violations of protective orders for stalking and sexual assault with violations of protective orders for domestic violence; ensures adequate sanctions for repeated violations of conditions of release; reduces the trauma victims experience by participating in our justice system; and ensures professionals can engage with children involved in sex offenses to provide help to those children.

For too long Alaska has had the unfortunate distinction of having the highest rate of sexual assault in the United States according to FBI data. Alaska's sexual assault rate is more than four times the national average, and more than double that of the next closest state. Given these statistics, it is deeply troubling that our existing laws have critical gaps that allow convicted sex offenders to go undetected, make Alaska a refuge for sex offenders, and leave our most vulnerable citizens exposed.

This legislation eliminates Alaska as an option for sex offenders from other states seeking to avoid registration requirements by updating Alaska's registration requirement to be more in line with the federal scheme. Under existing law, a sex offender who is required to register in their state of conviction is not always required to register in Alaska. This makes Alaska attractive to sex offenders who seek to avoid registration. This legislation closes that gap and simply says: "If you are required to register in your home state and you come to Alaska, you will be required to register here, regardless of when you were convicted." This change will respect the decision made in the person's home state that required the person to register, as well as protect Alaskans. A sex offender should not be allowed to avoid registration simply by moving to Alaska.

The legislation also protects victims of stalking by increasing the level of offense where a person stalks someone in violation of a stalking or sexual assault protective order. Under current law, a person can be convicted of stalking in the first degree, which is a felony, for stalking someone while violating a domestic violence protective order. However, it is only a misdemeanor for violation of a stalking protective order. This legislation would close that gap and include stalking someone in violation of a stalking or sexual assault protective order among the conduct that will elevate the offense to stalking in the first degree (class C felony).

The legislation further protects victims and the public by mandating additional sanctions when defendants repeatedly violate conditions of release. Unfortunately, defendants often disregard the conditions and bail imposed by the court. This conduct turns our jails into revolving doors and is a drain on Alaska's justice system. To help address this growing problem, the legislation requires that the court impose additional jail time for each conviction of violation of conditions of release under AS 11.56.757. This additional sanction will send a message that bail and conditions imposed by the court are to be followed and that there are consequences for failing to do so.

The legislation also reduces the stress that victims are forced to experience when required to testify at grand jury. More than 30 other jurisdictions allow grand jury proceedings without requiring the victim to testify. Alaska law, on the other hand, requires that a victim take time off work or school to testify, and insists those victims relive their trauma before the grand jury – a room of strangers. This is required even though the victim provides statements to law enforcement usually mere days earlier. This all makes the grand jury process cumbersome and inefficient and causes a hardship on the victim and witnesses. This legislation relaxes the rules and allows key witnesses, typically the officer in the case, to summarize the testimony of other witnesses. This will permit prosecutors to call fewer witnesses at the grand jury phase of the case, reducing the need for the victim to relive their trauma so soon after the crime occurred. It will also make the process more efficient and reduce the backlog that was created when grand juries were suspended due to COVID-19.

Finally, the legislation makes changes aimed at protecting our most vulnerable citizens: our children. The legislation allows multidisciplinary child protection teams to accept referrals of cases where there has been sexual contact or sexual penetration that occurs between children under the age of 13. Typically, when children who are under 13 engage in this type of behavior, prosecution or adjudication is not considered appropriate or effective. Rather the mental and physical well-being of both children becomes the singular goal. However, without this change, the multidisciplinary child protection teams cannot engage at all. Giving multidisciplinary child protection teams, who are the experts in this field, the statutory authority to accept referrals of these cases will make it easier to appropriately address this behavior in young children and provide the children with any needed therapeutic assistance.

This legislation will close gaps in our laws and better protect Alaskans. The legislation will provide the tools for us to monitor offenders and protect Alaskans from future victimization.

I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,

/s/

Mike Dunleavy
Governor"

HB 68

HOUSE BILL NO. 68 by the House Rules Committee by request of the Governor, entitled:

"An Act relating to sex trafficking; establishing the crime of patron of a victim of sex trafficking; relating to the crime of human trafficking; relating to prostitution; relating to sentencing for sex trafficking, patron of a victim of sex trafficking, and human trafficking; establishing the process for vacating judgments for certain convictions of prostitution and misconduct involving a controlled substance; relating to the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault; relating to permanent fund dividends for certain individuals whose convictions are vacated; and providing for an effective date."

was read the first time and referred to the Judiciary and Finance Committees.

The following fiscal note(s) apply:

1. Zero, Dept. of Corrections
2. Zero, Dept. of Law
3. Zero, Dept. of Public Safety
4. Zero, Dept. of Public Safety
5. Fiscal, Dept. of Administration
6. Fiscal, Dept. of Administration
7. Fiscal, Dept. of Public Safety
8. Fiscal, Dept. of Public Safety

The Governor's transmittal letter dated February 7 follows:

"Dear Speaker Tilton:

Under the authority of Article III, Section 18, of the Alaska Constitution, I am transmitting a bill to clarify and improve Alaska's sex trafficking and human trafficking laws; establish the crime of patron of a victim of sex trafficking; and create a process for a sex trafficking victim convicted of prostitution to have that conviction vacated.

Alaska's sex trafficking and human trafficking statutes do not adequately address the serious nature of these offenses or provide sufficient protections for underage victims. The current language in these statutes is archaic and fails to address the realities faced by individuals forced into the labor or sex trade, creating situations where victims are unaided and perpetrators go undetected.

This legislation will restructure the human trafficking and sex trafficking statutes to address the realities of how these offenses are committed and to protect underage victims. The bill increases the penalties for all forms of trafficking, placing the most serious classification on those crimes that use force to traffic an underage person. Sex trafficking in the first, second, and third degree is now treated as a sex offense for purposes of sentencing, thereby enhancing the penalties. Sex trafficking in the first and second degree would also require sex offender registration, while sex trafficking in the third degree would not require registration.

The legislation also establishes the new crime of "patron of a victim of sex trafficking." While it is crucial to target those who traffic individuals, it is equally important to address those who create a demand for victims of sex trafficking, specifically underage victims.

The legislation also targets persons who patronize those engaging in sex work. First, it increases the penalties for this conduct and establishes mandatory minimums based on the number of times a person is convicted. If a person is convicted three times within five years, the offense will become a felony. Sex trafficking would not exist without those who pay for sex. We cannot begin to address this scourge if we continue to look the other way as people continually fund the sex trafficking industry.

Finally, the legislation establishes a mechanism by which a person convicted of prostitution or low-level drug possession can request that the conviction be vacated if they were a victim of sex trafficking at the time of the offense. The threat of being charged with a crime is often something that traffickers will use to continue to control their victims. It is important for society to recognize that these victims often have no other choice, and they should not be treated as criminals when they are, in fact, victims themselves.

Human trafficking and sex trafficking are insidious crimes that ruin lives. It is time that our statutes adequately address the devastation this predatory conduct has on our society and protect those who need it most.

I urge your prompt and favorable action on this measure.

Sincerely,

/s/

Mike Dunleavy
Governor"
