FISCAL NOTE ANALYSIS

STATE OF ALASKA
2025 LEGISLATIVE SESSIONAnalysis*Background

The education tax credit is a credit for qualifying contributions to Alaska universities and accredited nonprofit Alaska two- or four-year colleges for facilities, direct instruction, research and educational support purposes; donations to a school district or a state- or regional-operated technical and training school for vocational education courses, programs and facilities; and donations for Alaska Native cultural or heritage programs for public school staff and students; and a facility in the state that qualifies as a coastal ecosystem learning center under the Coastal American Partnership. The credit was expanded in the 34th Legislature to include donations made to childcare facilities for the children of the taxpayer's employees, or for payments made to an employee of the taxpayer for the purpose of offsetting the employee's childcare costs.

The credit is available to be claimed against insurance premiums tax, title insurance premiums tax, corporate income tax, oil and gas production tax, oil and gas property tax, mining license tax, fisheries business tax, and fishery resource landing tax. The credit for any one taxpayer currently cannot exceed $3 million annually across all tax types. The credit is currently scheduled to be repealed on January 1, 2028.

This bill would expand the education tax credit to all the currently eligible tax types to allow for contributions to public schools or programs operated by a tribal entity or a tribally empowered Alaska Native organization compact, and to state-funded literacy programs administered by the Department of Education and Early Development (DEED). The bill would also increase the cap for the education tax credit from $3 million to $10 million.

Revenue Impact

There will be a negative, indeterminate change in revenue due to increasing the credit limit from $3 million to $10 million. The division is unable to estimate the impact as it is unknown how many taxpayers, if any, will approach the new cap.

Implementation Cost

This legislation would require the Department of Revenue to make only minor changes to its system. There would be little to no cost to this change. Any cost would be absorbed by the Tax Division using existing resources.
